OPEN WAY FOR FINAL ACTION ON TAX BILL

Four Billion Reduction in Income Levy Due for Decision Monday.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 30—Delegates from the house and senate agreed in less than two hours today on a $4,000,000,000-a-year income tax cut, opening the way for final congressional action Monday.

The bill, carrying sharply reduced withholding rates, is slated to go into effect July 1—if President Truman does not veto it. The possibility of a veto is not ruled out at the capitol.

Final congressional approval of the conference committee's action is regarded as only a formality, in view of the majorities rolled up for the measure in both chambers.

The house passed its version of the bill March 27 by a vote of 273 to 137. It cleared the senate late yesterday, 52 to 34, with some amendments. Both votes, however, fell short of the two-thirds majority required to override a presidential veto.

Point of Agreement

The chief point of argument between the two houses was when the cuts should become effective. The senate's July 1 date prevailed. The house had voted to make the reductions retroactive to last January 1 with taxpayers granted refunds for overpayments in the first half of 1947.

To offset the house concession, the senate yielded to bring a larger group of taxpayers within the 20 per cent reduction bracket. The cost of the change to the treasury, in lost revenue, was estimated at $62,300,000.

As finally approved by the conferees, the bill would grant reductions ranging from 10.5 to 30 per cent over a full year's operation. Because the bill would take effect at mid-year, however, the benefits to taxpayers on their 1947 incomes would be scaled down to from 5.25 to 15 per cent, this year only.

The bill orders these cuts below present taxes:

On net incomes of $1,000 or less after exemptions and deductions 15 per cent for 1947, and 30 per cent in 1948 and subsequent years.

$1,000 to $1,400: graduated reductions of 15 to 10 per cent this year, and of 30 to 20 per cent thereafter.

$1,400 to $136,720: cut of 10 per cent this year, 20 per cent thereafter.

$136,720 to $302,400: cut of 7.5 per cent this year, 15 per cent thereafter.

All above $302,400: cut of 5.25 per cent this year, 10.5 per cent thereafter.

Cut in Withholdings

Withholdings from wages would be reduced the full year's percentage specified for each bracket, on July 1. The result would be to trim the total withholdings for the year by just half that percentage.

The house originally had blanketed all income between $1,400 and $302,400 in the 20 per cent cut. The senate set up a 15 per cent reduction between $79,700 and $302,400. By its concession

2 MEN KILLED AS TRAIN HITS AUTO IN GALION

Henry Kannelly of Near Martel, C. W. Crane of Near Galion Die at Crossing.

Special to The Star

GALION, May 30—Henry Kannelly, 71, of near Martel and Charles W. Crane, 76, of southwest of Galion were killed instantly at 5:15 Thursday afternoon when the automobile in which they were riding was hit by a westbound Erie diesel-freight train at the South Market street crossing. Both of Kannelly's legs were severed and Crane was decapitated. The bodies were thrown from the auto between the east and west bound tracks.

Car Stalled.

Witnesses told police the car apparently stalled on the crossing and that they believe the occupants were too frightened to move. Other vehicles were waiting for a warning signal at the crossing when the accident occurred.

The engineer of the train was J. Mason of Marion and the conductor was E. E. LaRoche, also of Marion. The train had not been scheduled to stop at Galion.

Kannelly's body was taken to the Volk funeral home and Crane was removed to the Snyder funeral home. No funeral arrangements have been made.

Survivors of Victims

Kannelly is survived by his widow, Carrie, and a foster son, Myron Gladhart of Mt. Gilead. Crane's survivors include his wife, Stinehelfer Crane, and their children, Mrs. Charles Woolensnider of Galion, Mrs. Roy McMillen of Galion, Miss Ruth Myers of Mansfield and Delphos Crane at home. He is also survived by a foster son, Melvin, at home, and several sisters.

Nab 3 Who Fled Prison

Trio of Six Who Escaped Mansfield Reformatory Caught in N. J.

By The Associated Press

JERSEY CITY, N. J., May 30—Three of six young Ohio reformatory prisoners who allegedly kidnapped a guard-instructor and escaped Monday, were apprehended in the Palace motion picture theater late yesterday, Deputy Police Chief James McNamara said.

McNamara identified the trio as Edward Fischer, 20, of Jersey City, John Conte, 22, and Paul Vukovich, 18, of Dayton, O.

He said police had placed a cordon around the theater to take the three into custody. The main feature was "Wild Bill Hickok Rides Again."

McNamara said Fischer had a police record as a juvenile here. The three, he added, had been traced to the movies by Detective Sgt. George Faherty who had been assigned to watch Fischer's home and old haunts.

Faherty identified Fischer in the darkened theater and police surrounded the three with drawn guns.

McNamara said an 11-inch knife blade made from a steel file was found on Fischer's seat and an eight-inch knife on Vukovich's seat.

The deputy chief said the youths told of traveling to Jersey City in a sedan they picked up in Plymouth, O., where they separated from the other prisoners with whom they had escaped.

Enroute here, the three gave a ride to two hitch-hiking Syracuse university students, whom they later relieved of their luggage, clothing and $20, and left stranded in a woods, McNamara said.

The six, who escaped from the Mansfield, O., prison by forcing the guard to open a gate, fled in a prison truck. The guard was dumped from the truck about 30 miles away and was found unharmed several hours later.

Reformatory Superintendent Arthur L. Glattke said at the time of the escape that the six men, who were working in the reformatory tin shop, forced the guard at the point of a knife to signal the gatekeeper to let the truck out on an apparent errand.

Car Stolen by Escapees Recovered in Cleveland

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, May 30 — An automobile found on Oakland avenue, near East 118th street, yesterday was identified by police as one stolen by six escapees from Mansfield reformatory.

The car was stolen at Grand Rapids, O., following the escape Monday night. The six men left Mansfield in a truck belonging to the reformatory. Four are still at large.

SENATE GETS SCHOOL BILL

Tempers Ruffled as Financing Measure Is Voted Through House, 103 to 20.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., May 30—Amid ruffled tempers and much confusion the house yesterday approved its version of an Ohio school financing bill, 103 to 20.

The measure contemplates granting an annual $83,500,000 state subsidy to the public schools.

This would be $23,500,000 more per year over the last school year and at least 75 per cent of the increase, exclusive of tuition and transportation, must be used to increase teachers salaries.

Commonly known as the Daniels-Cramer school bill it must be returned to the senate for concurrence in vital amendments. The senate previously had passed the measure providing for financing of an $89,000,000 basis.

If the senate refuses to accept the house version, the bill then would be thrown into a conference committee where the battle would be continued.

The Ohio Education association which is backing the senate version, has not yet conceded defeat.

An administration sponsored amendment providing that 75 per cent of the increased funds be used for salary increases for teachers generally was credited with clinching passage by the house. It was offered by Rep. Paul H. Ballard (R-Jackson), chairman of the house finance committee.

Governor Approves

Earlier, Gov. Thomas J. Herbert issued a statement indorsing the amendment, and reiterated his approval of the house version of the measure.

The governor personally watched the battle from the house gallery and from the well back of members' seats. He left the gallery for the house floor when informed by the sergeant-at-arms that he could not smoke there. Smoking is permitted on the main floor.

Tempers of several members flared when a motion to close debate was made and carried by a vote of 71 to 59. Charges of "steam roller" were hurled by Rep. Guy C. Hiner (R-Stark) and

UNITED LINER HITS FENCE AT N. Y. AIRPORT

Six of 48 Passengers Escape Death as Craft Burns on Takeoff.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 30 — A big United Airlines plane crashed on a takeoff and burned near La Guardia Field last night and police said 42 of 48 persons aboard were killed — the worst commercial airline disaster in this country.

Officers said one of the six survivors was the pilot.

An eyewitness said the plane struck an obstruction just as it was taking off and crashed in Grand Central Parkway in Queens.

The plane was said to be bound for Cleveland.

Bodies Seen in Flames

Police reported at 7:38 p. m. (EST) the plane which had taken off at 7:03 p. m. was still afire and "several bodies" could be seen within the flaming wreckage.

An eyewitness, an employe of another airline who declined to be identified by name, said the plane struck a fence, building or some other obstruction at the edge of the field. Police reported the craft exploded in the air.

Police emergency cars, trucks, and ambulances were rushed to the scene.

United Airlines officials could not be reached immediately.

Police said the giant ship crashed near the School of Aeronautics at La Guardia field and Grand Central Parkway in Queens.

Cause of the crash was unknown.

Fire Extinguished

The crash occurred just after the craft had taken off at 7:03 p. m. (EST) and police reported at 8:15 p. m. the fire had been extinguished.

Police reported the airliner struck a fence at the edge of the field as it was taking off for Cleveland.

The fire following the crash could be seen for miles and was not brought under control for approximately an hour, during which time police said "several bodies" could be seen in the burning wreckage.

It was not known immediately how the six persons escaped death. The figures, along with those for the total of crew and passengers, were reported by police.

Names of the passengers and crew were not immediately available.

The greatest loss of life heretofore in commercial aircraft crashes in this country was on May 16, 1946, when 27 died in the crash of a plane near Richmond, Va., and on March 3, 1946, when the same number was killed when an airliner struck a California mountain.

Elsewhere in the world, however, 53 died in each of two different crashes—both in Colombia, South America. The first was in 1938, when a plane crashed into a crowd at Bogota, and the second was last Feb. 15 when another craft struck a mountain.

Forty-nine were killed in a Moscow accident in 1935, and 43 died last Jan. 5 in the crash of a Chinese airliner at Tsingtao, China.

12 Die in Plane Crash in Netherlands

By The Associated Press

AMSTERDAM, May 30. — Twelve persons were killed at Tilburg in the Netherlands yesterday when two instructor-type aircraft collided in the air and crashed.

The planes were two-engined, British-made Anson that had just taken off from the Gilze Rijen airport.

One of the dead reportedly was an officer and the other 11 graduates of the Dutch National Aviation school who had just received their flying certificates.

3 MISSING IN AIR CRASH

By The Associated Press

FAIRBANKS, ALASKA, May 30—A B-29 bomber crashed and burned shortly after taking off from Ladd field yesterday and the Army public relations office said three men were reported missing. The other nine members of the crew escaped serious injury but were brought to the Ladd Field Station hospital. The plane was attached to the 49th reconnaissance squadron.

RENT INCREASE PERMIT VOTED

Senate Approves Plan for 15 Per Cent Boost in Exchange for Lease.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 30—The senate voted yesterday to permit 15 per cent rent increases where tenants agree to them in exchange for leases to run through 1948.

It also voted to require the removal of rent ceilings in about 30 areas each month. There are now 620 areas under rent control.

The senate took these actions as a prelude to voting on a bill to extend rent controls, in such revised form, until Feb. 29, 1948.

The vote on extension was put over until next week.

A 48 to 26 ballot put through the permissive rent increase, offered by Senator Hawkes (R-NJ). A voice vote approved the idea of gradual dropping of areas under rent control. Its author was Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.)

Eight Democrats — Byrd, Va.; Eastland, Miss.; Hoey, N. C.; Edwin C. Johnson, Colo.; O'Conor and Tydings, Md.; Holland, Fla., and O'Daniel, Tex.—joined 40 Republicans in favoring the Hawkes amendment.

Two Republican—Aiken, Vt., and Langer, N. D., lined up with 24 Democrats in opposition.

The amendment, which the house approved in slightly different form, would permit voluntary agreements on increases not to exceed 15 per cent above the rent in effect for a particular property on Sept. 1, 1946.

Such agreements would be allowed up to Dec. 31 next and would run through 1948.

Hawkes contended the amendment would not give any legal power to landlords to raise rents. He said many tenants would welcome an opportunity to negotiate with owners with the assurance their rents would not be raised more than 15 per cent after federal controls go off.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) described it as a "wise approach" to decontrol, while Senator Fulbright (D-Ark) contended it is not consistent with other provisions authorizing local advisory boards to expedite landlord hardships cases and recommended area decontrols.

Painter Held Without Bond in Resort Slaying

By The Associated Press

BELLEFONTAINE, O., May 30—Roger Williams, 38-year-old house painter, was held without bond yesterday for action by the Logan county grand jury on a first degree murder charge in the slaying of his former housekeeper, Mrs. Minta Webb Rothwell, 25, at an Indian Lake resort.

Williams pleaded innocent to the charge, filed by Sheriff Ellsworth M. Palmer, yesterday before Justice of the Peace L. E. Marquis.

Sheriff Palmer said Williams admitted firing two bullets into Mrs. Rothwell's body Wednesday afternoon at Newland resort restaurant when she refused him a date for that evening.

Cold Memorial Day Weather Forecast

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, May 30—A frigid Memorial Day was forecast yesterday for the eastern parts of the nation, but dry and warmer weather was in prospect for the corn belt states where planting has been seriously delayed by excessive spring snows and rainfall.

A mass of cold air from Canada, which brought near or below freezing temperatures and frost to much of the midwest, spread to the eastern seaboard.

Forecasters said the unseasonable cold would extend south to the Gulf states before moderation begins.

A warming trend already was evident in the plains states, and a return to normal temperatures was predicted for the midwest by weekend.

VETERAN RACERS TOP INDIANAPOLIS LIST

Predominate in Today's Auto Classic.

By The Associated Press

INDIANAPOLIS, May 30—Veteran drivers and track-proved, big-bore engines predominate today in the 31st running of the 500-mile Memorial day race over the Indianapolis motor speedway's 2½-mile oval.

The drivers got their final instructions yesterday.

The speedway's fabulous luck is expected to continue today. The weather bureau predicted sunshine, but continued cool weather, which will favor high speeds. The race has been postponed only once—in 1915—although the 1928 event was stopped at 400 miles by rain.

The cars waiting to grab choice parking space were late in forming this year, but the lines were lengthening rapidly. The speedway said 65,000 reserved seats had been sold and it was prepared to handle a crowd of more than 100,000. It never discloses the paid attendance.

A late settlement of a prize money dispute with the American Society of Professional Automobile Racers brought most of the "name" drivers to the track and only a half-dozen ambitious small-track drivers will vie with them over the brick and asphalt oval.

In the pole position will be methodical Ted Horn of Paterson, N. J. Beside him will be Cliff Bergere of Toledo, O., who has driven nearly 6,000 miles in speedway competition, but has yet to win, and Mauri Rose of Chicago, co-winner in 1941.

There were 14 four-cylinder cars, one six-cylinder, eleven eights, the Don Lee Mercedes 12, and a Miller 16. The blue crown job in which Holland led the qualifiers is powered by a four-cylinder, 270-cubic inch Meyer-Drake engine.

RAIL STRIKE POSTPONED

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, May 30—Headquarters of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers announced yesterday a strike on the Pacific coast, set for June 6, had been postponed, pending a mediation meeting in Washington on June 9. The walkout was scheduled against the Southern Pacific railroad and two of its affiliates, the Northwestern Pacific and the San Diego and Eastern Railways.

5 MARION MEN IN ARMY LIST

Among 9,200 Officers Nominated by Truman for Permanent Commissions.

Five Marion men are among more than 9,200 officers of the National Guard and Army of The United States nominated for permanent commissions in the regular army, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Washington.

The list of officers was submitted by President Truman, Thursday and requires confirmation by the senate.

Those from Marion are Courtney L. Faught of 282 Clover avenue, Paul J. Lawther of 440 East Center street, Thomas Gray of 215 South Vine street, Leslie E. Reichardt of 294 Chicago avenue and John A. Thompson of 247 Windsor street.

Faught was a major, serving 25 months overseas with a troop carrier group in the southwest Pacific during the war, and participated in five major campaigns. He is married to the former Miss Mary Ann Young. They live with his wife's mother, Mrs. Hector S. Young. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Courtney Faught of Urbana, are former Marion residents. He has been nominated for the permanent rank of first lieutenant.

Okinawa Veteran

A lieutenant colonel with service on Okinawa, Paul Lawther landed there with the invasion of Easter Sunday in 1945. He also participated in the invasion of Leyte in the Philippines. Before entering service he owned and operated the Oldsmobile Sales and Service Co. here. His family lives at 440 East Center street. His permanent rank, according to the dispatch, will be captain.

Leslie Reichardt, who has the temporary rank of captain, has been nominated for a first lieutenancy. During the war he was pilot on a B-17, and was held as a prisoner of war by the Germans.

Blaze Sweeps Hold Of Ship at Philadelphia

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, May 30—A stubborn fire deep in the after hold of the Liberty ship Barbara Frietchie last night blanketed the Delaware river waterfront with smoke and posed a difficult problem for firemen.

No one was injured or endangered, Chief Engineer John C. Frost reported.

Feeding on hundreds of tons of tar paper, other paper products and automobile tires and tubes, the fire raged beneath several layers of steel pilings stowed in the hold.

4 CHILD VICTIMS OF YOUNG KILLER BURIED

By The Associated Press

IMLAY CITY, Mich., May 30—Four child victims of a killer's bullets were buried yesterday as they died—with flowers in their hands.

Lowered to a mass grave in a windswept, hilltop cemetery were three daughters and a son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Smith, farmers living near here.

Unaware of the widespread grief, 16-year-old Oliver Terpening Jr., named by authorities as the confessed, ruthless slayer, was kept behind bars of Lapeer county jail 12 miles away.

Facing a quadruple murder charge, he said he would rather not attend. His father, mother, stepmother and other members of his immediate family also remained away.

The four flower-decked white caskets, identified by ribboned names, were carried down a winding path between maple trees by

Greenland Seen As Vital Link in U. S. Defense System

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 30—The United States served notice last night it considers Greenland a vital link in its Arctic defense system and intends to negotiate a new defense agreement with Denmark on that basis.

Secretary of State Marshall announced at a news conference the Danish government, which has sovereignty over Greenland, has been informed of American readiness to discuss new post-war arrangements concerning American military interests there.

This announcement followed receipt of a note from Denmark. The note asked for talks looking toward an end to the present defense agreement, without expressing a view as to whether it should be replaced by a new pact. The present agreement, a wartime arrangement, was made in April, 1941.

"Greenland," Marshall said, "remains of the greatest importance as a link in the defensive system of the United States and of the western hemisphere."

Russia has been highly critical of American interest in Greenland in the past and has assailed published reports that this country would like to buy the strategic island.

Girl from One-Room Georgia School Wins U. S. Spelling Bee

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 30—A 14-year-old girl who has had only one teacher in all the eight years she has spent in a one-room Georgia schoolhouse yesterday won the national spelling bee.

Freckled, honey-colored Mattie Lou Pollard of Thomaston, Ga., became the champion because she knows how to spell "maggoty" and "chlorophyll," as well as 50 other tough ones.

It was no easy triumph.

Dimpled, pretty Sonya Rodolfo of Chicago, whose father is a Filipino scientist and whose mother is a Russian-born journalist, left the Philippines only two years ago. But she thought it was m-a-g-g-o-t-e-y.

Mattie Lou, who won sixth place in the national bee last year, knew better. And when she also spelled another word "chlorophyll," as the rules provide, she became the champion speller of 6,000,000 school kids.

The twentieth annual tournament was sponsored by Scripps-Howard and other newspapers from New York to California. Thirty-five state and district champions were here yesterday.

And Mattie Lou—who yearns to be a newspaper reporter—is the queen bee of them all, both at spelling and in winning the applause of the spectators.

First place was worth $500 and a trip to New York for Mattie Lou. Sonya got $300. Third place and $100 went to chubby Suzanne Gelin of Parma, O.

Her downfall was "paraguerita."

U. S. Food Shipments Due To Start Soon

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 30—The United States will begin its new shipments of food and other relief supplies to Europe and China, probably next week, Secretary of State Marshall announced yesterday.

He forecast President Truman will sign promptly the legislation authorizing $350,000,000 for relief in seven countries during the next year.

Food shipments to Europe by UNRRA already have ceased and the international agency is to wind up all its operations there June 30.

Relief by the United States was restricted by congress to Austria, Italy, Greece, Poland, Hungary, the proposed free territory of Trieste, and China.

GOERING'S WIDOW PUT UNDER ARREST

By The Associated Press

MUNICH, Germany, May 30—Bavaria's denazification ministry prepared last night to bring to trial the widows of four high Nazi officials, three of whom died on the gallows at Nuernberg.

Dr. Alfred Loritz, Bavarian denazification minister, announced the arrest today of Mrs. Hermann Goering, the 53-year-old former actress and widow of the man who was outranked only by Adolf Hitler, on charges she was a member of the Nazi party. She was placed in an internment camp near Augsburg.

Loritz said orders also had gone out for the arrests of Mrs. Fritz Sauckel, mother of 10 children and widow of the Nazi labor boss; Mrs. Hans Frank, mother of five and widow of the Nazi governor general of Poland; and Mrs. Wilhelm Frick, mother of two and widow of the "protector" of Bohemia and Moravia.

New Jersey Man Seeks Word About Kin of Pioneer Doctor

Information regarding descendants of Dr. George Halloway, pioneer doctor in Marion county who is said to be the first physician who was able to stand the hardships here and live any length of time, is sought by E. H. Pendleton of South Orange, N. J., in a letter to The Star.

Dr. Halloway came to Marion from Massachusetts in 1825 and continued the practice of medicine here until his death in 1867 at the age of 85 years, according to an account of his life in the history of Marion county published in 1888. Serving as a surgeon in the War of 1812 he located in Buffalo, N. Y., before coming to Marion.

First To Withstand Hardships

Mr. Pendleton pointed out that Dr. Holloway was the first Marion doctor able to withstand the hardships of life in the pioneer wilderness. Seven of his predecessors, the letter stated, died within a few years after their arrival.

Practice of medicine in those early days covered a large area and the mode of transportation was slow. Said to be "quite successful" Dr. Halloway travelled many miles to see his patients. Transportation was confined to the saddle as the roads were new and rugged, often mere paths running through the forest marked by "blazed trees" as guides to the proper course.

Diseases of the country in those days were principally of a bilious character and "milk sickness" or "trembles" were common ailments.

Calomel Was Standby

In the former class of diseases, the torpid liver had to be aroused and Dr. Halloway's favorite prescription for this purpose was Calomel in heroic doses, generally 40 grains, repeated in from four to six hours. In the treatment of milk sickness the doctor also enjoyed a good reputation, and the typically old saddle bags were familiar to nearly every family, the history relates. His death occurred at his home here.

According to Mr. Pendleton, whose address in 429 Harding Drive, South Orange, N. J., Dr. Halloway had at least four daughters and one son, Augustus, who was studying medicine in 1850. In his letter requesting information regarding descendants of the pioneer doctor Mr. Pendleton added that 'if they were as tough as he was there could well be some grandchildren living."

GALION PEACE LUTHERAN CHURCH AND PARISH HOUSE

Galion Lutheran Congregation Plans Centennial Observance

Dedication of 32-Bell Carillon, Gift of Two Members, To Be Event of Week's Celebration.

Special to The Star

GALION, May 29—The one hundredth anniversary of Peace Lutheran church here will be observed with special services during the week of June 1, including the dedication of a $32,000 32-bell Deagan Carillon, the largest of its kind, Sunday at 4 p. m. The nineton genuine carillon, actual bells of which are installed in the belfry of the church, is the gift of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Liggeti, philanthropic members of the congregation.

Among the speakers during the centennial week will be Dr. Harold L. Yochum, president of Capital university, Columbus, who will speak next Sunday morning, June 1, at a special service of thanksgiving. The local pastor, Rev. Philip E. Auer, will speak at the dedication of the carillon. This will be followed by a special carillon recital by Miss June Albright of Chicago, renowned carilloneur.

At a community night service, Wednesday, June 4, Rev. Charles H. Lange, pastor of Faith Lutheran church in Detroit, Mich., will be the speaker. On Friday evening, June 6, an organ recital in the church will be presented by Theodore Schaefer, M.S.M., minister of music at the Covenant-First Presbyterian church, Washington, D. C., a Galion boy and former member of the Peace congregation. The concluding service will be held Sunday morning, June 8. This will be a homecoming service with Rev. John E. Braun of Port Clinton, former United States chaplain, as the guest speaker. At this service there will be dedicated a bronze plaque, honoring the 93 young men and women of the church who served in World War II.

Open House at Parsonage

On Tuesday and Thursday evenings, Rev. and Mrs. Auer will be host and hostess at open house at the parsonage.

Peace Lutheran church dates to the time of its constitution and charter, May 31, 1847. During the 100 years, the congregation has been served by twelve pastors. The present pastor, Rev. Auer, was installed July 20, 1924. He has served longer than any other 1867. In 1845 the German Lutherans and German Reformed, as they were then called, withdrew pastor. During his ministry in Galion, $100,000 has been spent on church improvements. The congregation is entirely free of debt, although $42,000 has been spent in preparing the buildings for the centennial celebration.

Originally the congregation worshipped with the First Lutheran and First Reformed congregations in a Union church, located on the southeast corner of North Union and West Church streets. The building stood until from the previous arrangement to erect a brick building of their own on South Market street. During the same year the building was built, Peace congregation formally adopted a constitution and charter, with Rev. Johannes Krauss as pastor. May 31, 1847, is recognized as the birthday of the Peace congregation.

For a number of years a parochial school was maintained by the congregation. Under Rev. Carl Wernle in 1874, it was decided to erect a new and larger church and the old church was moved to the rear of the property where it stood until it was torn down in 1935 when the present parish house was built.

Grounds Landscaped

In 1923, the Hackedorn property at the southwest corner of the intersection of South Market and West Walnut streets, was purchased. In 1935, the property was torn down and landscaped and constitutes the present church lawn.

Coming from Sharon, Pa., Rev. Auer was installed as pastor of the church on July 20, 1924.

The German language, which for many years had dominated the services of the church, gradually became less and less in use until in 1939 it was decided all services would henceforth be conducted in English.

Twenty-one young people of the church served their country during World War I, and 93 were in active service in World War II.

MRS. H. V. FALOR TALKS TO WEDNESDAY BIBLE CLASS

"Challenge of Christian Manhood" Is Topic.

Mrs. H. V. Falor, wife of Rev. Falor, pastor of Oakland Evangelical church, was guest speaker at the final meeting for the season of the Wednesday Noon Bible Class held Wednesday at the Y. M. C. A. Mrs. Falor chose as her topic "Challenge of Christian Manhood." She stressed the strength of the nation which was aided greatly by the foundation of Christian character in the early pioneers and continued through the years. She also noted some of the weak spots in society and quoted statistics on the number of juvenile delinquents, patients in alcoholic institutions, number of suicides each year and the men and women who contract venereal disease annually. She told of the interest shown in better developments in all walks of life and stated that people should be greatly interested in the advance of mankind.

Approximately 30 members and their wives were present. The class will resume its regular meetings in September.

Lutheran Congregation To Greet New Members

Final plans for the congregation reception on June 11 honoring new members were announced at a meeting Tuesday evening of the Young People's Missionary Society of Emanuel Lutheran church. Presiding as hosts for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Axthelm and Mr. and Mrs. Marion Apple. Following devotions by Mrs. William Ackerman was a panel discussion on "Lutheran World Action." Ellis Wilson, Robert Syster and Mrs. Lloyd Mautz participated. Mrs. Gerald Jennings entertained with several piano numbers. Contests under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. John Ludwig were held. Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Philbrick were welcomed as new members. Guests included Mrs. Robert Longwell, recently returned to this country after living several years in Brazil, and Mr. and Mrs. Jennings.

In Memory Of
*Our son, Orville N. Holt, better known as Dave, who was killed seven years ago today.

He is gone but not forgotten,
And, as dawns another year,
In our lonely hours of thinking,
Thoughts of him are always near.

Days of sadness will come o'er us,
Friends may think the wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow
That lies within the heart concealed.

Mom and Dad.

Mt. Victory V.F.W. Post Elects New Officers

Special to The Star

MT. VICTORY—William Britton Post No 6817, veterans of Foreign Wars, has elected the following officers, post commander, Clarence Struble; senior vice commander, Walter Ewing; junior vice commander, Haymond Miller; quartermaster, Charles File, adutant, Edward Elliott; post advocate, Bruce Butler; chaplain, Gerald Ealy; surgeon, George Johnson; officer of the day, Ward Carey; and patrouc instructor, Merritt Perry.

Decoration day program also was planned.

World War II veterans of the post have been notified that September 1, 1947, is the deadline for filing claims for settlement of unused military leave. Those that have not yet applied for their terminal leave are advised to act immediately to avoid any delay which might result from increased number of applications just prior to the deadline date. Applications for used terminal leave should be made to the branch of service concerned and not to the veterans administration.

Marion Family To Leave Soon For Mission Field in Afrca

Rev. Nathaniel H. Billings, pastor of the Christian and Missionary Alliance congregation here, Mrs. Billings and their son Ralph will leave Marion after the middle of June on the first step of their journey to French West Africa. The congregation was organized by Rev. Billings last fall and meets at the Y. M. C. A. for Sunday services.

Rev. and Mrs. Billings and son Ralph

With the intent of dedicating his life to work in the mission field, Rev. Billings started his training at the Missionary Traning institute at Nyack, N. Y., which Mrs. Billings also attended Both are graduates of the school. He continued his studies at the National Bible Institute in New York City, at Ohio Northern university at Ada, and the University of Cincinnati. Last summer, both Rev. and Mrs. Billings attended the University of Oklahoma, completing the course in languages at Camp Wycliffe. The former served pastorates in Kenton and in Cincinnati before coming to Marion.

After leaving here next month, the family will reside at the Christian and Missionary Alliance conference grounds at Beulah Beach, O. During the last week of June and the first week in July, an extensive missionary deputational tour will be made through West Virginia, Virginia and North Carolina, ending with a service of the Greater Cincinnati Youth for Christ of which Rev. Billings was founder-director

To Sail Aug. 2

Booked to sail for France on the S S Sobreski from New York City Aug. 2, the family will spend six months at the Villa Emmanuel at Haut-Mornex, near Geneva, Switzerland. French studies will be continued there at the missionary home or at the University of Geneva. Both Rev. and Mrs. Billings have been studying the French language, the latter has been tutored by Mrs. Robert Miley, a native of France who came to Marion to make her home in recent months, and the small son, not to be overlooked in the missionary picture, has picked up a number of the French phrases The family expec's to arrive in French West Africa the first part of next year. They have been living at 227 West Church street.

The Billings' will be among more than 2 500 missionaries and national workers of the Christian and Missionary Alliance who operate 2,500 stations and outstations, preaching in 116 different languages and principal dialects. These workers have 2,000 students training in Bible schools and annually baptize about 5,000 new converts. Together, the 21 fields under supervision of the alliance have an aggregate population of 79,000 000 for whose evangelization they are responsible.

Organization 60 Years Old

An organization which has been engaged in world service 60 years, the alliance was founded by Dr. A. B Simpson, a Presbyterian minister, whose intent was to establish "not a denomination, but a fellowship of hungry souls seeking spiritual inspiration; not a church, but a missionary society seeking to send the light of Christ ... to all the dark corners of the world." Attracted to his platform and pews were Episcopalian, Salvationist, Mennonite, Methodist, Baptist, Congregationalist, and Brethren leaders and helpers, from Canada, England, and the various states of this country. His following "had to be called an alliance—no other name was adequate."

In 1882, Dr. Simpson, well known through means of both the secular and the religious press of his day, began training young people in his Bible school first in New York City, then at Nyack. A convention under his ministry at Old Orchard, Me., in 1887, organized twin societies, an interdenominational spiritual fellowship ,called the Christian Alliance, and an international missionary society known as the Evangelical Missionary Alliance. Ten years later, the two were combined and given the present name.

Throughout the United States and Canada, the alliance operates 14 districts as the home base. Abroad, its 21 major mission fields include five in South America, Argentine, Chile, Peru, Ecuador and Colombia; one in India, Palestine-Arabian Border, French Indo-China and Siam; four in China, South and Central China and Kweichow-Szechuan and Kansu-Tibetan Border; five in the islands, Jamaica, Puerto Rico, Japan, the Philippines and the Netherlands East Indies; and three in Africa, Congo, Gabon, and French West Africa where Rev. and Mrs Billings will work.

EAGLES COMPLETE PLANS FOR DISTRICT MEETING

Class of 50 To Be Initiated Here June 8.

Final plans for the initiation and meeting of district 31 were announced Wednesday night at a meeting of Buckeye Aerie No 337, F.O. E, held in the lodge hall. Five applications were received and the candidates will be initiated at the district affair on June 8 in the Marion hall. A class of 50 candidates is expected to be received.

Installation of officers will be held June 4 with Harry Mautz, past worthy president acting as installing officer representing the grand aerie. Entertainment last night included a number of musical selections by the quartet composed of Warren Augenstein, C. C. Ward, Robert Heimlich and John McAndrews. The four men were winners in the competition held last Sunday in Columbus. Paul Malloy played the piano accompaniment.

During the business session it was reported that 427 new members had been initiated since last June 1. First Sgt. Charles L Boulevare and S. Sgt. Loren Brandon, officers from the Marion Army recruiting office, showed a motion picture, "Battle of New Britain." They announced the picture was available for showing upon request. They state that 445 men had been recruited into service during the present drive. A talk was also given by Howard W. Curtis, boatswain's mate first class, in charge of the local Navy recruiting. Reports were given by Mr. Mautz on the charity fund campaign and from Lee Collins who reported on the euchre activities and other entertainment.

They Shall Not Die

On this day we honor our dead, but to us, they shall always live. Though memory of many things may fade, the good they did will live on in us to their credit.

This is our human recognition of the rich heritage that comes to us from each generation. This is the only lasting tribute.

To us who loved them even the appropriate funeral service is not a farewell. It is merely a fitting pause to pay our earthly tribute.

THEY SHALL NOT DIE.

FRIDAY, MAY 30, 1947

Memorial Day

TODAY is Memorial day, which John a Logan, G.A.R. commander-in-chief, first designated in 1868 "for the purpose of strewing flowers or otherwise decorating the graves of comrades who died in defense of their country during the late rebellion." With the passage of years and the accretions of history, the scope of the day has widened so that it now is also the occasion for tribute to those who fell in three subsequent wars.

This year the day takes on new significance as the Army begins the task of returning the dead of World War II from many distant battlefields. This is being done for families which ask it. For others, who prefer that their loved ones remain with their fallen comrades, the Army is completing well-kept cemeteries which in the next few years will be the goal of many pilgrimages.

Today some will deck graves with flowers of the new season, while others will turn their thoughts to distant burial grounds where their loved ones or their comrades lie. There is not a family in the land which has not been touched, either directly or indirectly, by war's chill hand. As we paise in our observance, let us renew our prayers and our resolve that their sacrifices have not been in vain.

Intolerance Could Destroy U. S.

CHARLES P. TAFT, president of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, has said something that means more to this country's safety—in our opinion—than any of the things currently being said by public officials.

The right to criticize, Mr. Taft told a general assembly of the Presbyterian church, is reserved to all Americans, including ministers of the church and church laymen. The fact that criticism may agree with that voiced by Communists, for instance, or by reactionaries does not brand the critic himself as an extremist. The Federal Council, Mr. Taft explained, tries to apply Christian principles in areas where they arouse controversy. But it is not, by that token, subversive.

The greatest danger to the United States from Communism is not what it might do to Americans but what Americans might do to themselves if their fear leads to intolerance. Fear of Communism stampeded the Germans into Hitlerism; it stampeded the Italians into Fascism. In trying to get away from one thing, the Germans and Italians fell prey to another thing just as bad.

The United States is closer to the danger point of intolerance than it is comfortable to think about; it has been well schooled in the practices of name-calling that makes it appear all citizens are Communists or Fascists, conservatives or liberals, rightists or leftists—always one extreme or the other, never in the moderate position favored by the vast majority of Americans.

Another Stride Forward

WITH the well-known Russian sense of pride and the implication that "we order these things better in Russia," the Soviet government announces it has abolished the death penalty.

Whether a term in Siberia's salt mines or a prison sentence under the tender care of the Russian secret police would be less barbarous than the gallows or the electric chair would be a question for the quibbler. To judge from the tales of Tolstoy and Bostoievsky, Czarist Russia was a brutalitarian state even though it didn't have the death penalty. In those days a prisoner might "accidentally" fall downstairs or suddenly come down with violent and fatal internal "disorders," but those were the hazards of anyone who came into the bad graces of the Czarist authorities.

Such things, of course, couldn't happen under the dictatorship of the proletariat. Or could they?

Corn Isn't So Bad

EUROPEANS don't like corn, which they call maize and deem fit only for livestock. Seeing a chance to take a dig at United States aid, a French left-wing newspaper presents an article by one Dr. L. Boutbien solemnly warning that corn causes pellagra. He says corn flour "presents a biological disequilibrium which, continued, exercises dangerous action on the human organism."

Surely Monsieur le Docteur doesn't know corn and the role it plays in American life—cereal corn, that is. There are innumerable ways corn can palatably be prepared, and as for causing pellagra, that's bunk.

Americans in France have approached some French dishes with timidity. Some were appalled at the idea of eating snails and truffles, but found them surprisingly good. Some were not entranced at the prospect of eating "canetons a la presse"—duck slightly cooked and basted in its own blood—but found it a rare treat. Some even learned to like tripe a la Bourg-les-Valence. If Americans can do that, surely a hungry Frenchman can eat a little corn to keep up his strength.

The Armies of the World

19 Million Troops Cost 27 Billion Annually.

NATIONS of the world still have more than 19,000,000 men under arms at an annual cost of 27 billion dollars, according to a survey by the New York Times.

With 5,750,000 men, China is listed as having the largest armed force but, because her equipment is poor and the figure includes warring Nationalist and Communist factions, the troops hardly figure as an international factor. The survey shows China spends about 80 per cent of her budget for her armies.

Russia's army is estimated at 3,600,000, Great Britain's at 1,210,000, India's at 1,000,000, Turkey's at 875,000 and the United States' at 670,000 ground force troops as of July 1, 1947.

The survey reveals that peacetime conscription is almost universal, although the methods and efficiency with which it is enforced vary widely. Length of conscription service ranges from 30 weeks in the Philippine Republic to five years in Egypt and for some classes of Soviet conscripts.

The biggest spender is the United States which allocates about 34 per cent of its budget for the army and navy, although hidden and indirect costs probably raise the Soviet Union's budget percentage to 40 or more.

In the matter of sea power, the United States has no close rival. Of the world's 6,680,000 tons of warships in the five principal categories, the United States has well over half. Russia, with a navy of about 250 ships and about 300,000 men, has been operating a number of late-type German submarines and also is dickering for one of the two modern Italian battleships.

As for air power, the United States tops the list with 37,000 planes. Britain probably is second but no figures are available. Russia is third with an estimated 25,000. Even Nicaragua and Guatemala are in this tabulation, the former with 25 planes, the latter with 30.

Despite technological advances, more than 16,000,000 of the world's 19,000,000 soldiers are in the ground forces, the survey shows. The United States ground army is organized into the equivalent of about 13 divisions, two of them airborne, one-third of an armored division and the rest infantry.

Panama is the only nation in the world which acknowledges no armed forces. Only three other nations — Norway, Ireland and Venezuela—spend less than 10 per cent of their budgets on armaments.

In this year of "peace," three large-scale civil or colonial wars are in progress. These struggles are in China; in Indo-China where the French are battling the Viet-Namese troops; and in the Netherlands Indies where 250,000 native guerrillas and irregulars oppose 100,000 troops of the Netherlands army.

There also are trouble spots in Palestine, Madagascar, Paraguay and the Philippines where Hukbalahap insurgents are sporadically active.

Just a Minute

By JACK TARVER

Indigestion While You Wait

A recently perfected radar stove cooks virtually anything within a very few seconds.

It should have a big sale to late risers who never have time for three-minute eggs.

The atomic era has come into the kitchen. Quicker than one can inquire: "What's cooking?" it will be done.

One advantage of the new cooking method is readily apparent. Henceforth, seeing "Minute" Steak on the menu, one will know definitely that the adjective is applied to size.

The radar range will cook a rib roast in a minute and a half. And only cynics will ask: "What's time to a rib-roast?"

Of course, the new stove presents a problem of great magnitude to the restaurant industry. It won't be easy finding a new name for the ubiquitous "Quick Lunch."

Likewise, housewives who have been wont to complain about standing over a hot stove all day had better start casting about for a new complaint.

Painting Guarded

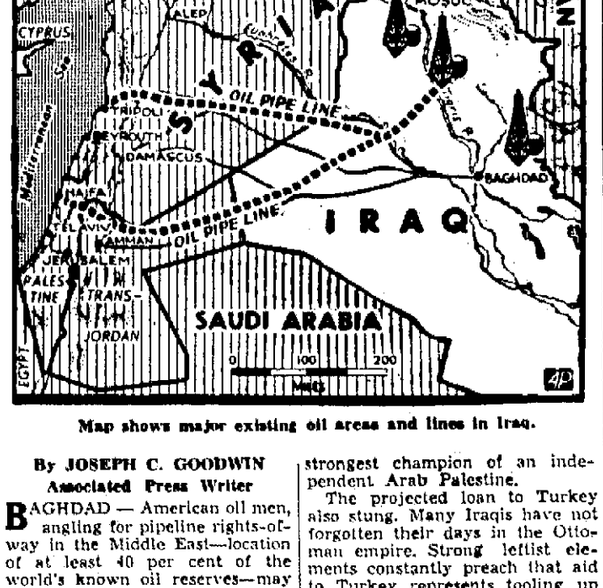
BRUGES, Belgium — Four policeman night and day will guard the famous four-hundred-year old painting of Jean Van Eyck, "The Madonna and the Child," in the Bruges Museum. No insurance company was willing to insure the painting at the requested value of $2,300,000.

The Dollar and Iraq's Oil



Map shows major existing oil areas and lines in Iraq.

By JOSEPH C. GOODWIN
Associated Press Writer

BAGHDAD — American oil men, angling for pipeline rights-of-way in the Middle East—location of at least 40 per cent of the world's known oil reserves—may find little Iraq a tricky pool to work.

In the first place the Iraz Arab has a chip on his shoulder about Washington policy. Secondly, he's not too happy about the benefits being derived from the one big international oil company already here.

Also he has had long experience with foreign domination and, although he's admittedly eager for dollar credits, he is not looking for bowl-of-porridge propositions.

Palestine a Sore Point

President Truman's statement on Jewish immigration to Palestine aroused the Arab's ire. Iraq is the most outspoken, if not the strongest champion of an independent Arab Palestine.

The projected loan to Turkey also stung. Many Iraqis have not forgotten their days in the Ottoman empire. Strong leftist elements constantly preach that aid to Turkey represents tooling up for war on Russia. Such a war, they say, would start right in their own backyard, reopening still-visible wounds left by Genghis Khan's Mongolian experts in destruction some 600 years ago.

Suspicions of Exploitation

Most of Iraq's oil is held under a 75-year concession by the English-managed, American-English-Dutch-French owned Iraq Petroleum company. Iraq receives four gold shillings for every ton delivered to the Mediterranean sea.

At present there are only two 12-inch lines moving four million tons annually. Two more 16-inch lines recently started should boost output to 12,000,000 tons.

But the Iraqi argues that increased production will strip the proved fields, and he suspects that his take is "peanuts" compared to dividends going abroad.

He frets too over British control of his railroads, his monetary system and foreign trade.

Called "New Swastika"

Wealthy merchants, always a political power in this part of the world, are impatient for credits abroad, especially dollar credits—which come hard in sterling control areas. On the other hand, political "Independents" and left wing journalists term the dollar mark "the new swastika."

All these things, observers say, add up to hard bargaining over right-of-way for the proposed giant 30-inch Trans-Arabian pipeline from Saudi Arabia, and similar carriers from Iran and Kuwait.

Briton Carries On With "Walking" Auto

By The Associated Press

LONDON — Twenty-year-old Ralph Albert and his wife have no parking worries. After driving home to their apartment house, they simply carry their homemade automobile upstairs in their hands, and shove it into the hall closet. Albert's car is two feet 10 inches wide—just small enough to get through the front door of his "factory"—a room in his second floor apartment. It seats two people, side by side, is powered with a three horse-power motorcycle engine and gets 75 miles to the gallon. Albert hopes to market the car.

FORGET-ME-NOTS

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Sunday, May 30, 1937.

Marion honored the memory of its war dead in services held at the Marion cemetery where approximately 1,500 persons heard an address by Dr. Jesse Swank, pastor of the Central M. E. church at Springfield, a former pastor of Epworth M. E. church.

Twenty-eight seniors received diplomas at the fifty-seventh annual commencement exercises of St. Mary Parochial High school, in St. Mary Catholic church. Speaker was Rev. Edward H. Summe, assistant pastor.

Rev. Howard L. Olewiler, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, delivered the baccalaureate sermon for seniors of Harding High school at Epworth M. E. church. His subject was "The Greatest Literature."

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace H. Smith of 679 North State street celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at their home. Guests included their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Smith and family of East Liverpool.

Mrs. G. A. Benz, 58, died at her home on Monroe street.

Robert Ingmier, 18, of Nye street, was killed and Wilfred Thompson, 20, also of Nye street, was injured in a motorcycle-automobile colision near Waverly.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Monday, May 30, 1927.

A wreath bearing the president's card was placed at the tomb of Warren G. Harding by Attorney Hoke Donithen, a tribute from President Coolidge to his former chief. The wreath was formed of magnolia leaves and greenery and tied with the national colors. President Coolidge had a wreath placed at the tomb each Memorial day since the death of President Harding.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Sorreles of Mary street entertained at dinner honoring the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Sorreles' mother, Mrs. Zella Mae Custer of Columbus.

Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Crum of Caledonia were awaiting the arrival of their son-in-law and daughter, Rev. and Mrs. Arthur Knudten and children, missionaries at Nagos, Japan, who had arrived at Vancouver on May 28.

Miss Dorothy Briggs and Miss Mary Long of Hamilton, students at the Oberlin Conservatory of Music, Oberlin, were guests of the former's mother, Mrs. O. G. Briggs of South Vine street.

Morris Sager returned to Cleveland after spending the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Sager of Olney avenue. He had accepted a position as director of the Allerton Club Residence orchestra in Cleveland.

Marshall, Vandenberg and '48

By JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP

WASHINGTON, May 30—Will foreign policy become the paramount issue in the 1948 election? That is the fateful question which events are now beginning to answer. At the moment, the outlook is discouraging. The pattern of bipartisan cooperation has grown progressively dimmer and more dim since George C. Marshall succeeded James F. Byrnes as secretary of state. Responsible Republican leaders are even beginning to hint that President Truman, presumably in a fit of criminal insanity, actually desires to fight the campaign on the foreign policy issue. Nevertheless, there are gleams of light and glimmers of hope which suggest that in the future—perhaps the very near future—means may be found to halt this alarming deterioration.

Speaking first of the present, the factors in the situation are pretty obvious. It is already apparent that the deepening world economic crisis will force President Truman and Secretary Marshall to present to the congress, either at a special session or next winter, a broad, ambitious and costly program of economic aid and reconstruction. The response of the congress will depend upon the response of the leaders; and the attitude of the leaders, and especially the Republican leaders, is being formed now.

The chief influence currently forming this attitude is the virtual cessation of the confidential relationships, on the highest level, which used to exist between congress and the administration during the epoch of Secretary of States James F. Byrnes. No congressional leader, either Republican or Democratic, doubts for an instant that Secretary Marshall is among the few Americans of truly commanding stature. All are encouraged by his grim, determined efforts to bring order and purpose out of the confusion and planlessness which have marred the administration of American foreign policy since the time of John Quincy Adams. But these sentiments, which a man would have to be very petty and mean-minded not to feel, do not provide an adequate substitute for the confidential relations of the old days.

Contacts Weakened

President Truman's Monday conferences with the congressional leaders of both parties never produced fully frank discussions of general problems; and they have recently become more rare. In the past, the liaison depended largely on Secretary Byrnes. There was constant, easy contact between him and the congressional chieftains, especially Senators Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan and Tom Connally of Texas. There is no such contact today between these men and Secretary Marshall.

Marshall has, as one would expect, observed all the forms of courtesy, and put into those forms some real meaning. He has, for example, written generous letters of thanks to Senator Vandenberg, as chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, on each of the occasions when Vandenberg has so successfully brought vital measures out of the committee and onto the senate floor. He also reported on the results of the Moscow meeting, in manner that has now become routine, to all the congressional leaders at a White House conference. But neither before his departure for Moscow, nor in the lengthening weeks since his return, has Marshall sought the genuinely full and frank talks with the leaders of congress which are the real essential. On the contrary, he has had only one real meeting with Vandenberg, and this occurred at Vandenberg's request, to discuss the single question of the Italian treaty, prior to Marshall's testimony on this topic.

Leadership Needed

If this state of affairs continues, there will be no way of avoiding the transformation of foreign policy into an electioneering issue. Possibly Vandenberg and one or two other Republican leaders may vote with the administration when voting times comes. But as the British loan fight clearly showed, what is wanted is for the congressional chieftains of both parties not merely to vote right, but to lead their followers to vote right. Vandenberg and his colleagues have repeatedly and justifiably made plain that they will not assume this kind of responsibility, unless they are also admitted to actual responsibility for the formulation of policy. Yet in the present congressional mood, the most powerful leadership will have to be exerted to secure nonpartisan support for the kind of program the President and Secretary Marshall are going to be forced to offer.

This, however, is only the dark side of the picture. It will be recalled that even Secretary Byrnes, in the first weeks when he was getting hold of the state department reins, allowed the congressional liaison to deteriorate. The present looks like being another such interlude. The effects of the interlude have been diminished by the remakable day-to-day congressional liaison job performed by Under Secretary of State Dean G. Acheson, whom Senator Vandenberg has succinctly described as "the indispensable man." And there are signs that the interlude is drawing to a close.

The White House, after long ignoring the obvious desirability of bi-partisan consultation on major foreign policy appointments, has now recognized this essential.

It is a job which, essentially, Marshall must do himself. It is a job which can still be done. And it is a job which must be done in the interests of everyone concerned. For, after all, Republicans and Democrats hold equal citizenship in the United States, and will suffer together from the effects of playing politics with destiny.

Letters for Special Delivery

J. ARTHUR RANK,

Producer of "Great Expectations."

DEAR ART:

You are in a way of getting into serious tr
ble. There is no telling what may happen to You have gone and produced a great classic a the original book meant anything. You have changed the name to "The Homicidal Staircas
"Her Other Man," "Murder For Fun," or a thing like that. You did not even call it "Gr Expectations," "Son of Dickens."

• • •

Furthermore you did not fire the scr adapter because he believed Dickens was a g story teller, too, and stuck close to the gene idea and characters; you did not pick a lead man for this Dickens classic just because he some actor who had done well in a play ab an alcoholic or select a leading lady because was good box office in Texas westerns.

• • •

But what is even more amazing is that did not hire a staff of publicity men who specialized in the high art of getting into mo advertisement an angle that would appeal to baser instincts. Nowhere in "Great Expec tions" ads have I seen lines like "Tells a sho ing tale of hidden love!"..."Grips you with details of hidden murder!"..."Shocks and te fies!"..."See what made this man kill and and kill!" etc.

• • •

All you permit the publicity department to is to advertise this as a movie picture version one of the great works of Charles Dickens, ev going so far as to emphasize that it is Dicke all the way through. You even allowed the wo "expectations" to stay in the title instead excluding it on the ground movie audien could not comprehend words of four syllabl

• • •

Now this is all a glaring violation of the mo code in this country. Hollywood will be ve sore. Most movie script writers are boili already. And the movie public is so startled any movie producer doing a thing like this it is a bit groggy. Whether it can stand it or remains to be seen. It is not used to see a mo resemble in any way a great classic on which is based. It is unaccustomed to fidelity, taste a great intelligence. You had better watch out.

• • •

However, keep a stiff upper lip. Do not yie to any advice to withdraw it and stick in so horse corral interludes, a few super-doo dances in a super-dooper nightclub, a couple name bands and a big scene in which Dicke steps aside for some hoofers, saloon comics a a girl quartet which just got a terrific plug a radio disc jockey program. Dickens can it alone.

Yours,
ELMER.

It's Free

By TRUMAN TWILL

This is one of those ideas we are always givi away free, except this time the idea already in use. It needs to be enlarged, that's all.

At the Twillery, whenever one of the fema inhabitants needs a new dress, a pattern same is obtained, laid out on the floor, there a wild half day of snipping and sewing, a presto, there is a new dress. We have ask about these patterns and are told they a reliable. The only uncertainty involved in th use is style; a woman has to know what patte to buy. Some of the rooty-tooty ones run toward $2, but for the price of a sundae a fema can buy reliable cut-outs for all ordinary pu poses.

Some enterprising men have seen the light a are making patterns for their sex too—not dr patterns (woo-woo) but patterns for a few the zillion things a man always is trying to bu in his spare time. Say a man wants to build doghouse. He can buy a pattern for it, no blueprint, but a set of cutouts, showing the s and relationship of the various pieces of t doghouse, where to put the nails and which n to drive first. There are patterns for beds, tabl lawn chairs, cupboards, bird houses—and t price range is about the same as that for dr patterns. Don't send orders. We're not selli the things. Just telling about them.

But these gents have only scratched the su face. Half the men in this country are stump by even the most rudimentary operation: th can't hang a picture. Furthermore—and this the key secret—they are ashamed of their hel lessness and would pay good money for relia assistance. They'd like to build shelves, rac fences, trellises, screen frames, book cases, hoo nannies and whatcha-call-its. But they're darn if they'll show their ignorance.

Fix up a package of standard patterns f things like shelves, tool boxes, cupboards, boo cases, and get them on the market for ne Christmas. Make it easy for a fumbler who like to build his kid a bird house; for the s who secretly wants to build himself a dog hou for the devoted husband whose wife keeps tal ing about a book case in the living room. Inclu explicit directions for getting patterns for oth simple objects. Make everything fool-proof.

In the meantime, we'll be working on a pro osition for equipping every householder with supply of essential tools—another "packag proposition, with everything included, like th play sets they fix up for Junior—and togeth we'll make a dent in the divorce rate in t country. When a woman thinks her old man getting skittish, she can buy him a pattern fo new table and by the time he gets it done may have a change of heart. Someone has million dollars to make, and all it's going to ta is some paper cutouts.

Results of Soil Conservation Cited for Marion Co. Farmers

By adopting soil conservation practices, 26 farmers of Ohio have added $725 annually to their farm income. This fact was shown in a new comparative study of farm incomes, the result of which has been announced locally by Wm. L. Williams, farm planner for the Marion county soil conservation district. "This study should be of personal interest to every farmer living in the district, Mr. Williams declared.

"The Marion county district already has 65 cooperators," he explained, "but some of them are just starting to use soil conservation methods. These men will be interested in finding out what they can expect to realize in the future from their new farming program. The new study will give them the answer."

In making the study, farm economists selected 52 farms which were comparable in size, in type of land and which were located in the same part of the state. Of this group 26 are being operated under well developed, complete farm conservation plans. On the remainder, little or no soil conservation is being practiced.

First-Hand Information

The information was obtained directly from the farmers themselves. It covers crop acreage, yields, and the amount of crop and livestock products sold by the farmers during the 1945 crop year. Actual 1945 market prices were used in computing income for both groups.

The 26 conservation farmers had an income that year of $2,785 which was $725 higher than the non-conservation farm average. They earned $20.30 per acre which was $8.47 an acre more than the non-conservation farmers received that year. Farms in both groups averaged approximately 137 acres.

As contrasted with the second group, the conservation farmers had these increases in crop yields: corn and soybeans, 11.1 bushels per acre; wheat, 6.5 bushels per acre; oats, 7.9 bushels per acre, and hay, 14 tons per farm.

In addition, the conservation farmers averaged 2,159 pounds more pork than the second group, 731 pounds more of beef; 302 pounds more poultry; 697 dozen more eggs, and 825 pounds more butter fat per farm.

The income figures revealed by the study, Mr. Williams explained, represent total farm income above the cost of lime, fertilizer, and additional feed purchased.

These studies were carried on by the U. S. soil conservation service in cooperation with the state agricultural colleges as a means of scientifically checking the benefits which soil conservation methods are adding to the income from farms located in representative parts of the United States.

Although the 26 farms are located in the Coshocton soil conservation district, Mr. Williams points out that farmers of the Marion county district can do equally well. "They can do so," he said, "by fully applying all the soil conservation practices outlined in their complete farm conservation plans, by making the necessary crop and livestock adjustments, and by properly maintaining waterways, and other soil conservation practices."

"Our farmland is just as good or better than theirs," Mr. Williams said, "and our farmers are certainly as progressive. If they can add $725 to their incomes every year, so can we."

The colors are flying; the medals are brightly polished under ribbons brilliant in the sun. The band plays, traffic has been halted, and the whole town turns out to cheer and wave at our veterans on this Memorial Day. That's swell, and just as it should be on this very special date. But "we" who are their audience can't stop at cheering and waving, because there's still much more we must do: until every veteran has a well paying job and a home that meets his family's needs; until every man and woman who participated in the war to perpetuate democracy can be sure of a peaceful future, with tolerance and freedom for all.

Quarry Street Cemetery, Restored 10 Years Ago, Again Falls Into Disrepair

By MARY HERRING

It's a well-known saying that history repeats itself.

If that is true the time is long past when Marion citizens should have acted to restore again the oldest existing cemetery of Marion located on Quarry street. One has only to walk a block east and two blocks north from the courthouse to see for oneself that history could indeed repeat itself.

Since the last restoration, started in June of 1937 headed by the late Charles E. Curtis and carried on by Addison Bain, former township trustee, the cemetery again has become a dilapidated eyesore through lack of public interest and proper care. It is the burial ground of 168 early Marion residents.

In 1937, although Mr. Curtis had no ancestors buried in the cemetery, he was spurred to action when he returned from a trip to the burial grounds of some of his family in Atlanta, Ill., only to find the grounds there neglected and the graves sunken.

Public Gave Funds

The funds at that time were raised entirely by public subscription and totaled over $1,000. The markers were pieced together and many set in cement bases, some upright, others were set in flat slabs of cement to keep the broken pieces in place. Previously the neighborhood children had used the stones for baseball markers and adults had even confiscated the flat slabs for personal use as walks.

During the renovation 10 years ago a heavy wire fence was erected and gates, fashioned in a sunburst design, were hung at the smaller entrances. Water was piped into the underground with six faucets placed throughout the grounds. Various types of flowers and trees were planted and curving paths of white gravel wound through the lot.

When the project was completed in the early fall the Quarry street cemetery was exactly what the group of Marion workers hoped it would be, a spot of historical value and interest.

Eber Baker Gave Ground

The ground was donated by Eber Baker, founder of Marion, shortly after the first cemetery was located "down on the hill" on South State street at Gurley avenue. Only a few had been buried in that first cemetery, according to county historians, and after the land was donated by Mr. Baker subsequent burials were in Quarry street location.

Many of the stone markers are almost illegible but the oldest date that can be deciphered is 1812. Records show that William Mason, 23, died Dec. 2 of that year. The dates then range up to and including 1863.

After that time most of the burials were made in the present Marion cemetery which was founded in 1857. Some of those buried in the Quarry street cemetery were moved to the new location in that year.

Today the cemetery is rapidly approaching a serious state of ruin although compared to the tedious work necessary 10 years ago, the cost to renovate the grounds would be considerably smaller.

The once sturdy fence is sagging and in many places has been completely broken down when pedestrians apparently used it as a sidewalk. Only the corner sections which have been braced with iron posts and set in cement are still erect. Only one gate remains on its hinges, the others have been torn off and discarded on the ground.

The gravel paths which added to the charm of the restored places are almost non-existent and the only through path that can be seen through the knee-deep grass and weeds is the one made by residents who cut through the cemetery instead of walking around the corner. The other paths come abruptly to a dead end and are lost in the tangle of weeds.

Flowers which were planted—peonies, iris and others—are struggling to give some measure of beauty to the neglected place but nature defeats itself when the weeds grow almost as high as the flowers.

Dandelions, burdock and thistles grow rampant and choke the smaller flower beds. The spirea bushes are in bloom but are untrimmed and weeds as well as the border bushes are overhanging the sidewalk on the south side. Trees need pruning and a couple dead ones need to be removed entirely.

At first glance only the taller monuments can be seen amid the high grass and the cemetery appears to have only a few graves. On closer inspection, however, the lower stones can be seen and a stroll through the place also will reveal the fat slabs.

The markers are again blackened and are barely legible due to the crust of mud and dirt lodged in the engraved inscriptions. The heavy posts and gates are rotting for lack of paint. The circular benches which were built around several of the older trees are nothing now but a pile of blackened and broken planks. Only one bench, located about 75 feet from the west gate, remains whole.

Needs Thorough Cleanup

It is evident to any observer that the entire lot needs a thorough going over and then regular care if Marion residents wish to preserve the historical value of the oldest remaining burial ground and be able to point it out as one of the town's interesting spots together with other historical sites here.

An interesting point which occurs to persons who wander through the grounds looking at the markers is the fact that the majority of those who are buried there were extremely young. This is to be noted aside from the fact that many who are buried were victims of the cholera scourge of 1857. A number of the deaths might possibly be credited to the fact that medicine had not advanced rapidly enough at that time to serve the citizens and prevent many from dying.

Only a few markers list the ages of the dead as being over 40 or 50 years. The oldest age to be found is that of "Catherine, wife of Jacob Grapes, aged 81 years." The average age is in the late 20's or early 30's. Scores of markers show that the death rate of infants was extremely high.

The committee who worked with Mr. Curtis 10 years ago found most of the Marion residents eager to preserve the spot as a part of early Marion history and subscriptions ranging from 25 cents to $50 were received. Marionites were proud of the result and many of the residents feel that if the present state of ruin is again called to mind some action will again be taken to restore the cemetery and then provide for regular care to avoid such a recurrence in later years.

Crawford County Man Bound to Grand Jury

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, O., May 30 — Andrew R. Noggle, 57, of near Bucyrus, arrested Wednesday and charged with arson, was bound over to the grand jury under $2,500 bond when he appeared before F. H. Baerkircher, justice of the peace, in a hearing yesterday afternoon. Noggle was returned to the county jail when he failed to provide the bond.

The Holmes county township farmer was taken into custody following an investigation by assistant state fire marshal, Gayle H. Owens of Marion and Sheriff Ralph Schreck, after the Noggle home near the National Lime and Stone company was burned down May 15.

JOB'S DAUGHTERS BETHEL INSTITUTED AT DELAWARE

Marion Group Takes Part in Ceremony.

Members of Bethel No. 2, Job's Daughters, assisted Tuesday night in instituting a Job's Daughters bethel at Delaware. Thirty charter members of the new organization will be headed by the honored queen, Miss Barbara Myers, daughter of Raymond Myers, formerly of Marion. The event was held in Asbury church in Delaware with approximately 200 persons attending. The choir of Bethel No. 1 of Columbus assisted in the ceremonies. Job's Daughters is an international order for girls from the ages of 12 to 20 years.

Installing officers from Marion bethel were Misses Ruth Vail, Joan White, Joan Shoemaker, Nancy Zimmerman, Clara Jane Frederick, Joan Sauil, Gloria Connor, Phyllis Yazel, Marilyn Guy, Janet Reece, Barbara Probst, Patty Burke, Nancy Ulsh, Sue Gilkison, Gloria Albert, Sue Sparks, Iris Eckles, Virginia Schertzer ,and Donna Clark.

Council members were installed by state officers from Columbus, Cleveland and Marion, including from the first two, Mrs. Jossie Riley and Mrs. Daisy Whitney, C. S. O'Brien, John Barber, Mrs. Mary Herrick, Mrs. Beatrice P. Zdara, Miss Ernestine Bibbler, Mrs. Ernshaw, Mrs. Rose O'Brien, Mrs. Edith Lamhert, Mrs. Selina Beoddy, Mr. and Mrs. George Roberts and Mrs. Vesta Wynkoop, and from Marion, Mrs. Fred White, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur A. Ward, Mrs. G. B. Hewetson, and Mrs. Charles Buente. Gifts were presented the new group by Bethels 1, 3 and 5 of Columbus, Bethel 2 of Marion, and Bethel 20 of Cleveland, and refreshments were served by a social committee from Delaware.

GRADUATES HONORED AT CHURCH BANQUET

Epworth Event Marks Harding's 75th Commencement.

Members of the Harding High school graduating class and college graduates who are members of Epworth Methodist church were honored with a "diamond" banquet at the church Wednesday night. Approximately 250 attended. The theme of the banquet centered on the seventy-fifth anniversary of the first class of high school graduates in Marion. Forty-four high school graduates and three college graduates were honored.

Toastmaster was John Lawrence. The invocation was spoken by Dr. V. E. Busler, Epworth pastor. Rev. Joel Wareing of Newark, a former Army chaplain, was guest speaker. Also included on the program was a skit written by George Roest and presented by James Coss, John Bryans, Ruth Clutter, Harlan Ambrose, Bernard Lyons, Surellen Roest, Ervin Porter, Donna Porter and James Harmon. Welcome was extended by James Rea. Patricia Zahn and Donald Zeisler responded. The Harding octet composed of Barbara McDonald, Betty Weiser, Barbara Thibaut, Richard Wooley, Jack Hoffman, Glen Tomlin, James Rea and Pete Dearing presented a group of selections.

Group singing, including a song with words written by Mrs C. H. Indoe, was led by Bernard Lyons with Mrs. Indoe at the piano. The benediction was given by Miss Margaret Huffman, director of Christian education. Co-chairmen were Marjorie Middleton, James Rea and John Lawrence. Mrs. Ruth Kennedy was program chairman. The banquet was sponsored by the official board, W.S.C.S. and youth fellowship. Members of the women's group served dinner.

CALL FOR VETO OF LABOR BILL

Two Democratic Dissenters in Conference Group Voice Views.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 30—A compromise labor bill imposing many restrictions upon unions won final approval of a house senate conference committee yesterday, but two dissenting members urged President Truman to veto.

Senator Murray (D-Mont) and Rep. Lesinski (D-Mich) declared the bill "will cause domestic strife and uncertainty," adding:

"We fervently hope that the President will exercise his constitutional authority to veto this legislation, and that an informed and aroused public will make its power felt to defeat finally this reactionary measure."

Hoffman Withholds Name

Besides Murray and Lesinski, Rep. Hoffman (R-Mich) refused to sign the final draft which reconciles differences between separate bills passed by the house and senate. Hoffman has favored stronger restrictions.

The bill was approved by these conferees; Senators Taft (R-Ohio), Ball (R-Minn), Ellender (D-La) and Ives (R-NY), and Reps. Hartley (R-NJ), Landis (R-Ind) and Barden (D-NC).

Taft was asked whether he believes the senate, which passed its bill by better than a two-thirds majority, could muster such a margin to override a possible veto. He replied:

"I think the settlement (on the compromise bill) will be satisfactory to the senators who voted for the bill."

It takes a two-thirds majority in each chamber to overcome a veto. House conferees have had no doubt the house would override. They gave up some of the more far-reaching provisions of their measure in order to increase chances the senate would follow suit.

The conferees decided to throw out a house provision which would have denied collective bargaining rights to food processors.

Issue Undecided

Whether these workers are covered by the Wagner act as it stands has been a subject of dispute. The conferees agreed to leave the issue to the national labor relations board and the courts.

The conference had achieved accord yesterday on all other provisions of the bill. These include a ban on the closed shop, under which employers can hire only union members; authorization for the government to obtain injunctions against national emergency strikes, such as a coal tie-up; a section making unions liable for unfair labor practices and subject to suit for breach of contract; a prohibition against jurisdictional strikes and secondary boycotts; and creation of a new federal mediation agency.

SYMPATHY PICKETS BANNED BY JUDGE

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, May 30—In a ruling believed without precedent in this area, Common Pleas Judge Frank S. Day yesterday banned sympathy picketing at the Pipe Machinery Co.

The jurist also ordered picketing to stop at the homes of employes who have returned to work and limited pickets to three at each entrance to the plant.

A petition for the injunction was filed by the company after police recently were forced to use tear gas to disperse 500 pickets, whom officers said were shelling the property with rocks, eggs and other missiles.

The company employs about 100 workers and has been involved in a strike by the International Association of Machinists (Ind.) for four months. Limited production recently was started.

At issue in the strike, in addition to wage demands, was the charge of 49 workers who stayed away from their jobs to join a picket line at another plant. The company offered to reinstate 45, but refused to return four.

"We have had complaints of picketing by persons who do not belong to the local union—a trick frequently employed by unions," Judge Day said. "Therefore, the court orders that only those who belong to the union may picket."

In a fresh outbreak of strike activity, police arrested David Thomas, 26, after he drew a pistol on 10 pickets.

Many Things From Cattle

Good Steer Produces More Than Steaks and Roasts.

By The United Press

CHICAGO—More meat to eat also means more soap to wash with, more shoes to shine, more fat to cook with and more glue with which to repair the kitchen chair.

While meat was scarce, the articles made from livestock by-products also were scarce. The leather men were worried. The soap men were worried. Housewives were not alone in worrying.

The importance of livestock by-products rests in the fact that only 55 per cent of the live weight of a steer can be sold as beef and that only 30 per cent of a hog can be sold as fresh meat.

Animal hides are most valuable by-products. In fact, the leather industry exists only because of the livestock industry.

The hide accounts for 8.6 per cent of the total return from a steer, as compared with 4.1 per cent returned from all other by-products. The return from the sheep pelt is relatively higher, amounting to 14.5 per cent, with the return from other by-products amounting to 4.1 per cent.

Some of the by-products of a steer, and the part of the animal from which they are made:

From the hide you get glue, grease, fertilizer, plasterers' hair and hair felt.

The hoofs are used to make combs, buttons and potassium ferrocyanide.

The viscera yields tallow, dried animal food, fertilizer, grease, medicine and oleo oil.

The interior fat of the steer winds up as soap, oil, glycerin and candles.

The stomachs of hogs are used to make pepsin. The thyroid and pancreatic glands of pigs, sheep and cattle are used in pharmaceutical products.

Hog hair and bristles are made into curled hair and brushes. Curled hair is sold for mattresses.

So you don't only eat livestock. You wear it, drink it, sleep on it, see by it, wash with it, cook with it, brush your hair with it, carry things in it, cheer halfbacks carrying it.

TAX CUT

today, it agreed to let the 20 per cent stand up to $136,720.

The bill provides an extra $500 personal exemption for taxpayers over 65 years of age, and for their spouses too, if they have reached 65. The conference committee upheld the senate in striking out a house qualification, which would have forced persons who receive tax-exempt income to choose between that exemption and the special $500 allowance.

House Majority Leader Halleck announced the conference report will come up for action Monday.

World's Telephones Total 51,500,000

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK—The American Telephone and Telegraph company reports the world now has 51,500,000 telephones in use.

Stockholm ranks next to San Francisco as the city having the most telephones per individual resident in the world, although New York City, with 2,218,000 instruments, has the greatest number of telephones.

No one city in the United States contains as much as eight per cent of the total number of the nation's 27,687,000 telephones. However, Brussels, Copenhagen and Paris each contain about one-third of their country's telephones.

Britain, with 3,925,000 telephones, has more than three times as many as Soviet Russia's 1,272,500.

More than 115,000,000 miles of telephone wire are in use in the United States, of which nearly 60 per cent is in underground cable.

SCHOOL BILL

Minority Leader John F. Cantwell of Mahoning county.

Cantwell said he had been promised by Speaker C. William O'Neill that the minority would be given opportunity to offer certain amendments and that he himself would be given an opportunity to speak on the bill. Closing debate prevented both.

Cantwell filed a protest against the procedure to be printed in the official journal in which he charged that "steam roller tactics" had been employed to shut out amendments and speakers. He also accused Governor Herbert of using pressure methods on members to support the bill.

Reconsideration Denied

Rep. John Hayden (R-Clermont) sought to obtain reconsideration of the vote by which the bill was passed but his motion was tabled, 75 to 48.

This action apparently blocked further effort to return the bill before the house. Under parliamentary procedure adopted by the house the motion to reconsider can not again be resurrected except by unanimous consent or by suspension of the rules by a two-thirds vote.

The motion to close debate on the bill was the signal for muth confusion. Speaker O'Neill broke two gavels in trying to maintain order. Some of the negative votes were cast not against the bill but in "protest against alleged "railroading tacts."

The Republican majority supporting the administration sprang the first coup shortly before midnight Wednesday when the rules committee decided to bring the bill to a vote today. The school lobby was caught off balance and the telephone wires buzzed the rest of the night summoning the lobby leaders to the capitol. Several arrived before the vote was taken and frantically sought to hold legislators in line for the senate version of the bill.

Even the weather conspired against them. Heavy morning showers slowed automobile travel. Planes also were delayed.

The first test on the outcome of the bill was an 85 to 28 vote tableing an amendment offered by Donald H. Rolf (R-Hamilton) which would have increased the flat distribution a $2 to $2.50 in the various brackets and made similar reductions in the equalization fund brackets. Such an amendment would have given the larger municipalities a greater share of the state subsidy, but would have reduced the amounts received by the extra aid districts represented mainly by the rural sections.

Previously, the house had tabled, 107 to 15, an amendment proposed by Rep. Walter L. Tarr (R-Hamilton) retaining the present formula of distribution. It would have given all districts an increase of 38 per cent which would have been earmarked for increasing salaries of teachers and other school employes.

Tarr contended that under the distribution proposed in the bill 1,532 school districts out of the state total of 1,593 would receive additional aid above the flat distribution and local levies, thus penalizing the remaining 61 districts which provide most of their school funds through local levies.

Although the Ohio Education association was never mentioned by name during the debate it apparently was referred to on several occasions in a critical vein.

Rep. William L. Manahan (R-Defiance) who sponsored the bill on the floor said the "propaganda distributed by a certain organization is a discredit to the organization which distributed it." In another reference he said "I think it is about time that a certain organization when it gives its word keep that word."

He said the organization had given its word to the governor last December that an $82,000,000 financing plan was satisfactory. Governor Herbert referred to such a statement having been given him by the O.E.A.

"Not all the teachers think the same as a certain pressure group," was another shot taken by Manahan at the O.E.A. which he also contended had hastened the death of Rep. Frank W. Moulton (R-Scioto).

"I believe Frank Moulton would be alive today if it had not been for the pressure put on him by this group even before the senate committee had recommended the bill for passage," Manahan said.

four sets of pallbearers. The caskets were identical except a tiny one—that of two-year-old Janet.

The other three contained Barbara, 16, Gladys, 13, and Stanley, 14, who, like the infant, were shot in the head Monday as the girls picked wildflowers and Stanley and Oliver hunted crows.

A thousand of Imlay City's 2,000 townfolk and farmers crowded into and around the community's only funeral home earlier for the services.

Four black hearses led a 200-car procession from the funeral home to the cemetery a mile away. The cold wind and overcast skies added to the bleakness.

The grieving father and mother wept unashamedly as they stood close to the casket of Barbara, whom Oliver considered his girl friend. She was dressed neatly in blue.

Beside it was that of Gladys, in a pink floral print, then Stanley, in a gray herringbone suit, and "Baby Jan," attired in blue. Each held an American beauty rose.

In his cell at Lapeer county's white-brick jail young Oliver waited for his appearance in circuit court on a murder charge. He will be brought to court next week on a waiver of juvenile court's jurisdiction.

Indiscriminate cutting of Christmas trees for sale has been discouraged by some states in the interests of conservation by requiring official certification of the origin of all trees sold.

COMMUNISTS FORCE NAGY FROM OFFICE

By The Associated Press

BUDAPEST, May 30—A high Hungarian source said Premier Ferenc Nagy of the anti-Communist Small Landholders party telephoned his resignation from his vacation resort in Switzerland yesterday.

The informant said Nagy had been "pushed from office" by the minority Communist party, and pro-American Hungarians said it was a coup d'etat spelling the beginning of a complete Communist police state in Hungary.

The informant, who earlier had disclosed the Russians had charged Nagy and two other high officials with being implicated in a plot to overthrow "Hungarian democracy," said Nagy would not return to Hungary.

The resignation was accepted at an emergency meeting of the leaders of the Small Landholders, Communist, Social Democrat and Peasant parties, main Hungarian political groups.

Imre Oltvanyi was understood to have been tentatively decided upon as Nagy's successor. Oltvanyi is a former president of the National Bank and a left-wing member of Nagy's party.

It was understood Erno Minalifyi, minister of information, would take Nagy's four-year-old son to Switzerland. His wife, daughter and older son already are out of the country.

An important official said Russian charges against Nagy were conveyed to the government in a deposition from Bela Kovacs, former secretary general of the Small Landholders party. Kovacs' arrest on Feb. 26 precipitated a sharp United States note charging Communists with "attempt-in to seize power."

Marine Romulus On Guard in Rome

By The Associated Press

ROME—The Marines who boast they are to be found anywhere from the Halls of Montezuma onwards, are on guard at the United States Embassy here.

The Embassy is in huge Palazzo Margherita, including three buildings behind a big wall which closes in an out-size block in the center of the Eternal City.

And to prove the Marines always have the right man handy for any job, this detachment has Lt. Leo Romulus Ryan, of Fall River, Mass., in charge. Or perhaps the Marines only wanted to prove they know their history books, which cite a legend that Rome was founded by a youth named Romulus.

Germans To Move

By The Associated Press

WROCLAW, Poland — Forty thousand Germans on farmlands of state-owned estates in Lower Silesia are shortly to be repatriated to Germany and their jobs taken over by Poles. The Germans represented 70 per cent of the total working upon approximately 2,500,000 acres of land.

Bucyrus Poppy Day Sales Total $806

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, May 30—Local relief work carried on by the auxiliaries of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars will be financed next year by receipts of the sale of Buddy Poppies sold by the two auxiliaries on Bucyrus streets Saturday. A tabulation of receipts made Wednesday showed a total of $806.17 realized from the sale. American Legion auxiliary, which had for sale 5,000 poppies, netted $632.01 and the V.F.W. Auxiliary receipts totaled $264.16 from 2,000 poppies. Mrs. Glen Senseney was chairman for the American Legion auxiliary sale and Mrs. Frank Bailey was chairman of the V.F.W. auxiliary sale.

• • •

Six members of the board of Bucyrus Community Concerts association were returned for three more years and the board reelected all of its officers for another year, at a meeting at the Y.M.C.A. Tuesday night. Howard Schiebel was returned as president and Edwin Norton was reelected first vice president. Others returned were Miss Aileen Philbin, secretary, and C. E. Gebhardt, treasurer. Directors reelected were Misses Ella Meck and Edna Ulmer, Mrs. S. K. Sallars, Mrs. Fred Kloepfer, Edwin Norton and C. E. Gebhardt.

Marion's Memorial Day Weekend Program Studded With Sports Event

Baseball, Softball and Harness Racing Planned Over Holiday

A heavy sports program is planned in Marion today and over the holiday weekend. Plans will be boosted tremendously if rain follows the nation and takes a break.

Marion Cubs and Marion Crystals will be active locally today, Schlairet will play here Sunday and harness races are scheduled by the Matinee club at the fairgrounds this afternoon.

A scheduled golfing program at both courses was a casualty to yesterday's weather.

Sammy's Nite club will play away Saturday and Paul Hopper and Lou Harold will be accelerating racers on tracks in Ohio and Indiana.

Bruins at Lima This Afternoon, Return Tonight

Marion Cubs are playing a split doubleheader today.

This afternoon the Bruins will engage Lima at the Lima ball park in a tilt scheduled at 2:30 p. m.

To give Marion its share of holiday baseball, the locals will return to Lincoln park tonight at 8 p. m. for a single game with the same Lima crew.

Saturday the Cubs begin a three-game series at Zanesville, moving on to Newark for another three-game series before returning to the local diamond Wednesday for a single game with Lima.

The Lima game scheduled for that night is a make-up contest not on the original schedules.

Crystals, Schlairet To Stage Ball Games

Today the Crystals have an afternoon game and Sunday they and Schlairet are booked for action in the afternoon. Smitty's All-Star softball team has a tentative double header for Sunday night. At Prospect the softball season opens tonight.

The Crystals will entertain Avenue Pharmacy of Columbus this afternoon at 2:30 and Harold Smith, sponsor has announced that he will have a Sunday afternoon game booked.

Although it is not definite, Smitty's All-Stars have games pending Sunday night with the same opponents who were booked last Sunday, Sycamore Merchants and Delaware Indians. Smith said last night that he thought all arrangements could be completed by Sunday.

Bud Creasap will bolster the Schlairet lineup in their game with the Cub Training school from Mansfield at Lincoln park at 2:30 p. m. Saturday. Creasap, who went south this spring to work out with Leaksville in the class C Carolina league, returned to Marion when his right shoulder went bad.

At Prospect Osgood will play Prospect American Legion and William McNabb Morticians will play Veterans' Administration. Both of the teams scheduled in the second game are from Columbus. The first engagement is scheduled for 8 p. m.

Sammy's Nite club hits the road tomorrow and Sunday. A game at Mansfield with the reformatory team is on the books tomorrow. Sunday they will play at Upper Sandusky. Manager Higgens has announced that all members of the team should be at the Marion Power Shovel diamond at noon tomorrow if they want to make the trip.

Matinee Club Schedules First Races for Today

The Marion Matinee club is holding its first race meet of the season at the fairgrounds today. Open to the public, admission will be free. The program will start at 1:30 p. m. In case of foul weather the races will be rescheduled for tomorrow at the same time.

A high school band will provide music for the occasion.

WEATHER KNOCKS PROPS FROM UNDER GOLF PLANS

Weather knocked the props out from under the golf schedule for the weekend.

The get-acquainted tournament and the two ball foursome scheduled at the Country club today has been called off. The links won't be ready for play until Sunday even with favorable weather.

No formal activity was planned at Mar-O-Del, but when the course is dry enough it will be thrown open to public golfing as all preseason work on it has been completed.

WINS GOLF MEET

ATHLETICS SPURN CLEVELAND'S SEEREY

Mack Turns Down Trade Offer for Strikeout King.

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, May 30—The Cleveland Indians' first attempt to trade off outfielder Pat Seerey drew a refusal from the Athletics, Tribe Manager Lou Boudreau disclosed yesterday.

Indians President Bill Veeck made Connie Mack a proposition to send the feeble-hitting Seerey to Shibe Park in return for outfielder Barney McCoskey and pitcher Dick Fowler, but the venerable Mack turned it down.

Not that Seerey's .187 batting average is the only reason the Indians have been in a slump, said Boudreau, "the fact is that we have several players whom we are willing to trade if the right deal can be completed."

Seerey, despite some training camp tutelage by Rogers Hornsby, has been unable to break himself of the habit of whiffing out, collecting 30 trips back to the bench in 26 games.

With the June 15 deadline for player trades in the offing, Veeck is still "trying to make some change which will help our team," Boudreau said.

For today's Memorial Day doubleheader against the White Sox in Chicago, Don Black and Mel Harder have drawn the pitching assignments. It will be the latter's first start of the season.

Fishing Made Easy—Just Read Book

By The Associated Press

GROVE, Okla — Fishing at Grand river in northeastern Oklahome is being made as simple as reading a booklet.

This spring when fishermen start dropping their lines in the 55,000-acre reservoir, they will be handed sketch maps showing the location of fish concentration shelters now being constructed.

"It's all part of a program by the Grand River dam authority and the Oklahoma Game and Fish Commission "to bring fish and fishermen together."

The gathering places, to be numbered on both maps and shore posts, are made of brush and logs securely tied together and anchored with large stones in spots selected by a trained biologist.

Some will be under several feet of water and others will run out from the shoreline like rail fences.

The commission said that when an angler wants to get a few fish for dinner, all he will have to do is decide what kind he wants and refer to the booklet. It will read something like this: "Number 17, 40 yards straight out from shore marker, an excellent hangout for both croppie and bass. Use deep-running plugs or fish with live minnows over and around shelter."

To make sure cat fish will be easily caught, large catfish dens are being constructed of stone.

O'Reilly Sandoz, the commission's senior biologist, said that the brush shelter is not an experiment but has been proven. "The fish will be there," he promises anglers.

Roy Eraser, 32, of the New York Central workers' camp, was arrested at the camp at about 5 p. m. yesterday by city police. He has been charged with intoxication and disorderly conduct. Police say that he was creating a disturbance.

Rivals Called Them Pirates And Name Stuck Ever Since

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH—It was back in 1891 that the Pittsburgh National League baseball club was accused of an act of piracy by the American Association, and the Pirates it has been ever since.

William E. Benswanger related that bit of lore of how the Pirates came by their name as he officially severed 15 years of connection with the club, 14 of them as president.

Fifty-five years ago major league ball players were jumping to the newly formed Players' League, much as some did last summer in shifting to the Mexican League. But the new circuit didn't last long, Benswanger recalled while thumbing through a book he recently finished for the Western Pennsylvania Historical Society on baseball in this section of the state.

Players' Names Omitted

It was agreed the players involved in the defection would be returned to their old clubs in the National League and the American Association. Meantime, the Philadelphia club had disbanded and "through an oversight," said Benswanger, "the names of infielder Louis Bierbauer and outfielder Harry Stovey were omitted from the list of players claimed by the association. Pittsburgh took Bierbauer and Boston took Stovey.

"The association protested even after a board of arbitration found the acquisition of the players perfectly legal. It termed the signing of Bierbauer an act of piracy and the name stuck."

Embree Just Misses Shutout

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, May 30. — Charles (Red) Embree, determined little Cleveland righthander, turned the tables on the Detroit Tigers today with a four-hit pitching performance that was worth a 4 to 1 triumph over the same Detroit club that twice this season had beaten him by shutout scores.

Rattling 10 hits off Paul (Dizzy) Trout to score twice in the second inning and twice more in the ninth, the Indians knocked a full game off Detroit's league lead, which now stands at 1½ games over the second place New York Yankees.

Embree, pitching in 50-degree temperature, walked only two men, struck out four—all in succession—and didn't let the Tigers get but one man as far as second base until Dick Wakefield's homer ruined his shutout after two men were out in the ninth.

The Tribe bunched four straight hits, singles by Eddie Robinson, Joe Gordon and Pat Seerey and a double by catcher Jim Hegan, for two runs in the second inning, and that was all the batting help Embree needed to mark up his fourth win against three defeats.

Hoot Evers' two-base muff of Hegan's fly helped the Indians to their two unearned runs that put the game on ice in the ninth.

Hartung Puts Giants Back in Lead

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 30—Clint Hartung, highly publicized New York Giant rookie who failed as an outfielder, hurled his mates back to the top of the National league standings today by stopping Brooklyn, 5 to 4, although he couldn't last the full nine innings.

Hartung, who didn't walk a batter, pulled out of his most serious jam in the eighth by grabbing Dixie Walker's smash and starting a double play after two men already had scored. When Gene Hermanski greeted him with a homer to open the ninth he was replaced by Ken Trinkle.

Yanks Win Seventh in Eight Starts

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 30—Third Baseman Bill Johnson continued his hitting spree, collecting a three-run homer and two singles yesterday in the New York Yankees' 5-2 win over Washington, their seventh victory in the last eight starts.

The Yanks exploded five runs to breakup a scoreless duel between Early Wynn and Frank Shea in the sixth inning.

Tommy Henrich's triple following a walk to George Stirnweiss scored one and, after George McQuinn was intentionally walked, Johnson hit a homer into the left field bleachers. Larry Berra smashed an inside-the-park home run to complete the scoring.

Relief Pitcher Wins Game with Hit

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, May 30—Relief Pitcher Russ Christopher smacked a single to left that scored the deciding run in the ninth yesterday as the Philadelphia Athletics snapped a four-game losing streak by nosing out the Boston Red Sox, 3-2.

The hit culminated a two-run uprising enabling the Macks to overcome a 1-2 deficit. A single by Buddy Rosar and a triple by Hank Majeski produced the first run. A walk and a double by Eddie Joost in the fifth accounted for the only other run.

3 AMERICAN GOLFERS WIN IN BRITISH OPEN

Fourth Felled by 45-Year-Old Scotsman.

By The Associated Press

CARNOUSTIE, May 30—Three former American champions, Marvin (Bud) Ward, Willie Turnesa and Dick Chapman, slashed through yesterday to the quarter-finals of the British amateur golf championship, but a fourth Yankee aspirant, Skee Riegel, fell victim of the tournament's biggest upset when he was dumped out by a 45-year-old Scot.

Robert (Robin) Rutherford, a tall, spare mechanical engineer with a bushy mustache, held a peeve against the British Walker Cup selectors for not even inviting him to their trials earlier in the month, and he took it out on Riegel by beating the Glendale, Calif., star, 1 up, in an afternoon match yesterday.

Not alone did the indignant Scotsman crack down on the innocent Riegel. Earlier Friday he had ousted Leonard Crawley, on the 19th hole.

Rutherford's triumph over Riegel brought a much-needed boost to Scottish morale after Chapman had trampled down two Highlanders.

Chapman shunted aside Vic Finlayson of Carnoustie, 6 and 5, and trounced Alan Stevenson of Prestwick, 8 and 6.

He and the belligerent Rutherford will clash in one of the four 18-hole quarter-final matches this morning. Ward and Turnesa will tie into each other in a second, and the remaining two will assorted Britons. The semi-finals are scheduled for this afternoon, be contested between various and with the 36-hole final on Saturday. Not a former champion was left among the eight survivors.

PLEA IS RENEWED BY MICHIGAN STATE

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, May 30—President John Hannah of Michigan State college, yesterday asked the Big Nine conference to make itself the Big Ten again by assigning MSC the place formerly held by the University of Chicago.

Hannah appeared before a meeting of the Western Conference faculty representatives, the policy making group of the Big Nine, to urge approval of MSC's long-standing application.

Meantime the conference athletic directors in the opening session of the three-day meeting rejected a proposal to put freshman football competition on an intercollegiate basis, and tentatively approved football for 150 pound players, or less.

Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin, and Ohio State have indicated they plan three-game schedules in this classification next fall, and Indiana and Purdue said they would meet on a home-and-home basis.

Officers Installed By Mt. Victory V.F.W.

Newly elected officers of the William Britton Post No. 6817, Veterans of Foreign Wars, of Mt. Victory were installed at a recent meeting. The installed officers are Clarence Struble, commander; Walter Ewing, senior vice commander; Raymond Miller, junior vice commander, and Charles File, quartermaster. The post was organized about a year ago and has made considerable progress. A discussion was held on organizing a ladies' auxiliary, and at a meeting in May, the issue will be submitted for a vote.

Gal Golfer Finds Profession Game Easier on Her Nerv

BETTY JAMESON
Former Amateur Champ

SAN ANTONIO—Betty Jameson, the San Antonio girl who won the national women's amateur links championships in 1939 and 1940, says she finds playing professional golf much less nerve-wracking than competing as an amateur.

"I'm getting much more fun out of playing now than I ever did before," Betty declares. "There doesn't seem to be the tension and the nerve strain there was when I was playing as an amateur.

"Why, when I was playing Dot Kielty in the semi-finals and even Patty Berg in the finals of the women's National Open last year, I didn't give one thought to what a victory would mean financially. But then afterwards, when I thought of the $5,000—holy gee!"

Betty lost to Patty in the 36-hole finals but second-place prize money boosted her winnings for the campaign to a tidy sum.

One of the reasons she doesn't feel the nervous strain of tournament golf so much since she turned pro, is because she doesn't have to win to eat. She's on the golf advisory board of a sporting goods manufacturing company and draws a steady salary plus a generous expense account.

Of course the company doesn't object in the least when Betty, using its clubs and golf balls, goes out and beats some other girl who is using the clubs and balls of a different manufacturer.

He-Man Game — That's Girl's Softball

SAN ANTONIO, Tex.—Girls' softball has gone he-man and it's a grind but Alva Joe Fischer of San Antonio's pitching additions to the sport, says she likes it and plans to stay with it for a while—"at least until the right man comes along."

The comely ex-Brackenridge High School student, home from two seasons in the All-America girls' Baseball League, is looking forward to Havana for the league's 1947 spring training and hopes to interest several local girls in taking the professional step.

But she warns in advance that the game will be different from that played in San Antonio and that the life, although "lots of fun," won't be easy.

Called Girls' Baseball

"It is called girls' baseball," she explains, "and it's quite different from softball as played here. The league uses an especially made 11-inch ball which is smaller and softer than what I played with before, and just two inches larger than a man's baseball.

"We use a regulation baseball bat and the size of the infield is the same as that for men's softball. A player can steal a base at any time, instead of waiting for the pitch to be delivered—in fact, the league plays by baseball rules instead of those for softball. And can! Some of the girls can knock the ball a mile. No-hit games in our league are as rare as in professional baseball."

ALVA JO FISCHER
Cocks High Hard One

Miss Fischer, 20, began playing softball 10 years ago. She turned in perfect games with regularity in San Antonio leagues but against the pro batters two-hitters are the best she has been able to do.

The girls lead a busy life during the summer, playing a 115-game schedule and are in action every night, traveling over the eight-club circuit by bus. The advantages Alva Joe lists are many: good pay (from $50 to $85 a week, with a share of play-off receipts), a fine group of girls to play with, and lots of baseball.

Won 25 Games

Last year Miss Fischer was at Muskegon, Mich., where the club led the league in attendance with 90,000 in four months. She won 25 games and led in hitting with an average of .310. In 1945, her first season, she played with Rockford, Ill., which won the championship and play-offs, resulting in a big bonus.

Alva Joe doesn't know where she will play next season because a player signs with the league, whose president is Max Carey, former Pittsburgh Pirate star, and is assigned to some club. In that manner an even balance is maintained throughout the circuit, preventing a runaway.

Cities in the league are Muskegon, Mich.; Rockford, Ill.; Racine, Wis.; South Bend, Ind.; Kenosha, Wis.; Fort Wayne, Ind.; Grand Rapids, Mich.; and Peoria, Ill.

Marion Club Hears Columbus Executive

Delmar G. Starkey, executive secretary of the Columbus Advertising club, was guest speaker when the Sales-Advertising club of the Chamber of Commerce met Wednesday noon at Hotel Harding. Mr. Starkey explained how advertising clubs can benefit communities through aiding with activities such as Community Chest and Red Cross drives. He pointed out that the Columbus club has received recognition from the Advertising Federation of America during the past several years for work in community projects. Smaller towns in the state give the Columbus club greatest competition for the award each year, he said.

Robert T. Mason, a friend of Mr. Starkey, introduced him. About 40 members were present. The next meeting will be held June 25 at Hotel Harding. The speaker will be C. D. Mills of the Scott Seed Co. at Marysville.

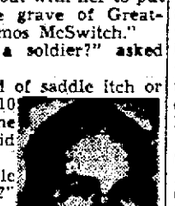
KANSAS CITY, May 30—"Daddy," said Junior, "why is Mommy mad at you?"

"Because it is Memorial day, and I won't go out with her to put flowers on the grave of Great-Grandfather Amos McSwitch."

"Wasn't he a soldier?" asked Junior.

"Yes, he died of saddle itch or something 10 years after the Civil war," said daddy.



Hal Boyle

"What's saddle itch, Mommy?" asked Junior.

"Now see what you've started," said Mama, looking at Daddy. "You and your crazy ideas."

"I don't care," said Clarence McSwitch, "I think we can do something better on Memorial day than put flowers on the grave of a man dead 72 years. What if he is the only hero the McSwitch family ever had? Grandfather missed the Spanish-American war because Grandma wouldn't let him go. My dad flunked the First World War because of flat feet. And the draft board just laughed at me when I showed up during this war. They said I belonged in a medical museum."

"Still Do," Says Mama

"You still do," said Mama cheerfully.

"Well, here I am doing better than a lot of strong boys they took to do the fighting," said Daddy. "And I don't think I'd be showing much gratitude by just planting another two-buck bunch of posies on Great-Grandfather McSwitch."

"Just what is your program for today?" inquired Mama.

"The first thing I'm going to do is get the best bouquet of roses in town and take them around to Esther. If her husband had come back he'd have the job I've got now. He was ahead of me in the office."

"I don't know about that," said Mama, "but she has been awfully lonely for Sam."

Balm for the Living

"Then I'm going to take 10 bucks and a quart of whisky around the corner to Jim."

"I wouldn't do that," said Mama. "Everybody says Jim's been drinking too much since he came back from the Pacific."

"I don't care. Maybe it's because he thinks nobody gives a hoot about him. He never started drinking until his wife shook him while he was still over there."

"Then will you come home?" asked Mama.

"No, I'm going out to the veterans hospital with some cigarets. I know the boys there get plenty, but the government doesn't say 'Hello' when it sends you a carton of cigarets. Sometimes when you're in a hospital bed you'd rather talk to somebody than smoke."

Mama Has Idea

"I think maybe I'll get you a hospital bed, in that case, so you'll talk more to me," said Mama.

"And on the way back I'm going to knock at the doors of houses until I meet at least five different veterans I never saw before. I don't care whether they think I'm goofy or not. I just want to tell them I feel glad and grateful for what they did, whether they filled out cards in a training camp or sawed Germans and Japs in half with machine guns."

"Can I go with you, Daddy?" asked Junior.

"Sure, kid."

"Will you buy me an ice cream cone?"

Future Veteran Remembered

"Yep, I'll buy you two. If there's to be another war, you'll probably fight in it. So it's better you have ice cream on this Memorial day, and I hope some other one we won't have to remember you with daisies."

"What'll you do while we're gone, Mommy?" asked Junior. Mama looked a little sad.

"I'll stay home and cook dinner for you two men," she said. "I guess Great-Grandfather McSwitch won't miss us this year."

Mama kissed Dad, and as they left Junior asked:

"Daddy, what is saddle itch?"

92,215 Vets Get G.I. Loans in Three States

World War II veterans in Ohio, Michigan and Kentucky have negotiated 92,215 home, farm and business loans totalling $497,782,254 under the loan guaranty provisions of the G.I. Bill. VA has guaranteed $236,133,300 of the total.

Ohio's total is 48,228 loans for $270,851,397.

Under terms of the G.I. Bill, VA is authorized to guarantee 50 per cent of a loan up to $2,000 on a non-real state loan and up to $4,000 on a real estate loan. The actual loans are made by lending institutions and not by VA.

Veteran Enrollment Hits All-Time High

The number of World War II veterans taking educational and job-training courses in Ohio, Michigan and Kentucky reached an all-time high of 311,912 on May 1. The total includes veterans enrolled under provisions of the G.I. Bill and also disabled veterans under terms of Public Law 16 (Vocational Rehabilitation Act.) The total was more than three and one-half times greater than the figure a year ago, when 84,273 veterans were participating in educational and job-training programs in the three states.

In Ohio, 158,281 veterans were enrolled on May 1, including 113,398 in schools and 44,883 in job-training. The total enrollment a year ago was 41,541.

Ask Insurance Data of Vets Changing Schools

Student veterans enrolled under the G.I. Bill who plan to transfer to another out-of-state school at the end of this term should make certain their future G.I. insurance payments are mailed to the proper Veterans Administration insurance office.

If an ex-G.I. moves to another section of the country, his insurance records will be transferred to the VA Branch Office having jurisdiction over his new place of residence. Before he moves, he should inform his present VA branch insurance office (located in Columbus, O., for Ohio, Michigan and Kentucky) of his change of address, listing both his old and new address, his policy number and full name.

A veteran can learn the location of the VA Branch Office serving the area to which he intends to move from the nearest VA office.

Questions and Answers

Q. Will the government pay for a correspondence course at the same time it is paying my tuition in a night school?

A. The government will pay for the correspondence course only if you are unable to obtain such instruction at the school you are attending. In addition, such course must be in line with your general educational objective.

Q. I am a World War II veteran and would like to know if I can get a guaranteed loan to pay off a debt that is past due?

A. Yes. It can be arranged under certain conditions. Your lender will be able to advise you concerning them.

Q. What must a veteran, who has lost his original discharge, do about getting a replacement?

A. He must apply for a certificate in lieu of the discharge paper from the branch of the service from which he was discharged.

Q. I receive a portion of my husband's compensation because we are separated. Am I entitled to a widow's pension at his death?

A. At the death of your husband, you may be entitled to a widow's pension not-withstanding the separation, provided you otherwise are eligible.

Q. Will a certified true copy or a photostatic copy serve in the place of the original discharge paper in getting a guaranteed loan?

A. No.

Spark Ignites Roof Of Factory Building

Firemen from central and Mark street stations were called to the Huber Manufacturing Co. on North Greenwood street about 5:30 p. m. yesterday when a spark from a smokestack ignited the roof of a cupola on the foundry building. When city firemen arrived Huber Co. firemen had already partially quenched the flames. About 15 company firemen were on duty. Damage was mainly to the roof, and did little damage to the rest of the structure.

National Guard Unit Has Drill at Armory

Final plans for participating in the Memorial Day services today were announced when Co. C of the Ohio National Guard held regular drill Wednesday night at the armory. Capt. Robert Melby, commander of the Co. C, will be in commnad of both Co. M, Ohio state guard unit and of Co. C in the parade.

Announcement was also made that the company will attend the Memorial services June 1 at Caledonia and will leave Marion at 12:45 p. m. Sunday.

Drill last night included instructions on the organization of an infantry company by Lt. William M. Bogart and instructions on civil disturbance by Lt. Louis Smively. Capt. Melby reported that clothing and equipment for the compapny is now being received.

Five Meeker F.F.A. To Get State Honor

Five members of the Meeker Future Farmers of America chapter of the Montgomery local school were nominated by the Ohio Future Farmers of America to receive the State Farmer Degree at the annual convention June 3-4 at Ohio State university. They are George Wilson, Wayne Roszman, Henry Wenig, Carl Neville and Jack Dean.

George Wilson has had as his farming program steers, hogs, poultry, corn, clover and oats. He has held three offices in the FFA, three offices of his class, has been master of a grange degree team for two years, a Junior Fair Board member one year, and president of the chapter that won the gold medal rating in the district parliamentary procedure contest for two years.

Having as his farming program hogs, dairy, poultry, chicks, corn, wheat, oats and soybeans, Wayne Roszman served as advisor on the parliamentary procedure team that won the gold medal rating in the district contest for two years. He was also the chapter's delegate to the National FFA convention last year at Kansas City, Mo.

Henry Wenig, who attended the Ohio FFA camp in 1945, has had as his farming program steers, hogs, beef management, corn, wheat and tomatoes. He has held two offices in the FFA and was secretary and delegate of the parliamentary procedure team.

An attendant of the FFA camp for two years serving as junior counselor last year, and also an attendant at the National FFA convention last year, Carl Neville's farming program has been hogs, steers, beef management, poultry, corn, wheat, oats and clover. He won the silver medal award in the state reporters contest last year and was reporter of the parliamentary procedure team that won the gold medal rating in the district contest.

Jack Dean, who has had as his farming program hogs, dairy, poultry, chicks, corn, oats and clover, recently wrote a camp story about his experiences at FFA camp that won him a free trip to camp this year. He also attended the National FFA convention last year. Dean has held two offices in the FFA and two of his class and this year was elected president of the Marion County FFA Council.

Knights of Columbus Make Nominations

Officers for the coming year were nominated and plans announced for the annual election on June 10 at a meeting of Marion Council No. 671, Knights of Columbus, Tuesday night. Rev. William J. Spickerman gave an informal talk and also congratulated Thomas E. Andrews, newly-elected state deputy of the Knights of Columbus. Reports of the state convention held recently at Cleveland were given by the state deputy, Charles Gallaher, grand knight, L. A. Axe, Joseph Dunn and Ray Deininger, delegates, and other members who attended the meeting.

It was announced by Robert Garsler, chairman of the blood donors committee that 70 members have had their blood typed and stated the service is available to any persons when needed.

Members of the Holy Name society of St. Mary parish held a business session and elected officers preceding the council meeting. Edward Huber was elected president, James Walsh, vice president, Louis Rubeck, secretary and Theodore Frericks, treasurer. The officers were authorized to make plans for the observance of Father's Day.

June 1 Deadline Set For Engineer Exam

A deadline of June 1 has been set by the Ohio Society of Professional Engineers for applications for the July 18-19 professional engineers' examination, according to an announcement made by Charles C. Whysall, president of the Marion chapter.

The examination is the first engineer-in-training examination to be given by the board of registration for professional engineers and surveyors. Eligible to take the examination are those who have had four years or more of engineering education or experience acceptable to the board. All of the seniors of the nine approved engineering colleges in Ohio will take the examination.

Dr. Burgstahler Is Speaker At Kiwanis Club Luncheon

Members of the Kiwanis club heard a talk by Dr. H. J. Burgstahler, president of Ohio Wesleyan university, Delaware, and conducted a memorial service honoring two members whose deaths occurred during the past year, at the weekly luncheon meeting Thursday at Hotel Harding.

W. E. Orcutt presided as program chairman. For the memorial service honoring Chief T. J. McFarland and Dr. F. L. Thomas, L. G. Jones sang "There Is No Death," by O'Hara, and prayer was offered by Rev. J. B. Holloway, pastor of Trinity Baptist church.

Dr. Burgsthaler's topic was "Higher Education in a Changing World." He discussed the part that college men played in the recent war and pointed out that college men and those who had not had the advantages of college training before entering the service of their country, had returned with the determination to get this type of education in order to better think for themselves and solve the problems confronting them and the world.

He spoke of the hardships on colleges and students due to the increased enrollment and stressed the importance of a college education. He urged parents to see to it that boys and girls received a college education as a part of their preparation for life. Turning to world affairs Dr. Burgstahler expressed the belief that changes are for the better and urged patience on the part of people in the bringing about of world adjustment. The legislators, he said, are having a difficult time, due to the stress placed on them to bring about laws restoring the people and country to normal times.

Guests included Gail V. Newell of Carey, R. J. Albers and C. W. Ozias of Columbus and Adrien Busick.

Announcement was made of a meeting of the board of directors and committee chairmen at 6:30 o'clock Tuesday night at Greenwood Inn. The following members attended a divisional meeting at the Mansfield-Leland Hotel at Mansfield Thursday night: W. E. Orcutt, Dr. F. A. Stengel, C. A. McGrew, Max Birnbaum, John R. Parsons, Harold Nussbaum, E. L. Cleveland, U. A. Nystrom, E. E. Miller, L. Otis Porter, Ray Reidenbaugh, William Ulmer and J. D. Torrance.

Roy Lovett Speaks At Personnel Meeting

Roy Lovett, director of industrial relations for McMillen Feed Mills was speaker when the personnel directors' club of the Marion Chamber of Commerce met Wednesday noon at the Y. M. C. A. Mr. Lovett outlined a new individual betterment plan being used among key employes. The plan follows a system originated by Benjamin Franklin following 14 key words, and emphasizing a different word each week. Plans were made for a number of members to attend the seventh annual Northern Ohio Personnel Executive meeting at Hotel Carter in Cleveland June 5, 6 and 7.

A discussion of reemployment of veterans, including seniority problems. Guests who spoke briefly were Don Hanna of Columbus, Sidney Smith and W. C. Leonard of Mansfield, all safety advisors for the Ohio Industrial commission.

EDITOR TO SPEAK HERE

YOUR HEALTH

Varicose Veins

While varicose veins are not usually serious, they do cause much discomfort and disability and, hence, the patient bothered in this way should receive the best possible treatment.

A varicose vein is one which has become permanently enlarged and engorged with stagnant blood. We do not know the exact cause of varicose veins but undue pressure is thought to have something to do with their development. Thus, the wearing of tight garters may cause them to appear in the legs. Some disturbance of the glands of internal secretion, such as the thyroid gland in the neck, may possibly be a contributing factor.

A number of forms of treatment for varicose veins are employed. For example, in some cases, veins may be tied off and cut out. In other cases, they may be injected with certain substances which cause scar tissue to form.

For temporary relief of varicose veins, Dr. R. Rowden Foote, of England, advises bandaging of the legs in various ways. The type of bandage to be employed will depend upon the nature of the varicose veins and their extent.

In those conditions in which there is edema, an abnormal amount of fluid in the tissues, and a rash-like eczema, what is known as a Unna's paste bandage may be applied. Such a bandage, according to Dr. Foote, if properly put on, may last up to a year.

In apply this type of bandage gauze rolls six inches wide are well soaked in the paste and are applied to the leg while warm. The entire leg is first covered with the paste by rubbing the bandage all over it. Then the gauze, which has been soaked in the paste, is put on, not too tightly. Last, the ordinary bandage is put over the Unna's paste bandage. This outer bandage may be changed whenever it becomes necessary.

The end result of this type of bandage is to produce a firm, but somewhat elastic boot which gives support to the tissues and at the same time does not put excessive pressure on it. However, it is best employed for patients who are in a hospital.

It would appear for cases not in the hospital, that a two-way stretch bandage is easily applied and can be removed at night, or when bathing, by the patient himself. When putting such a bandage on, it is started over the foot and gradually wound over the lower third of the leg. It is usually advisable to have some overlapping of the layers of the bandage so as to provide extra pressure. This overlapping is gradually lessened until the bandage is finished just below the knee. This type of bandaging is also helpful in the treatment of edema or when ulcers of the skin are present or when the varicose veins have become inflamed.

One-way stretch bandages also may be used. These are of lighter weight and shorter length than the two-way stretch type. This type of bandage has the advantage that the pressure, which is applied by its use, is adjustable.

Elastic bandages should be removed at night. They can be cleaned with soap and water, and, with proper care, will last for more than a year.

Of course patients with varicose veins should be under the treatment of a physician who will determine just what type of bandaging would be most suitable for his case.

"Gray Market" Probe Snagged

Senators Fail To Determine Origin of Forged Letter in Steel Deal Probe.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 30—Senators seeking the origin of a forged letter figuring in an investigation of "gray market" steel deals ran up against a blank wall yesterday when Herbert M. Karp, New York attorney, testified it was handed to him by a mysterious stranger.

Karp, whose testimony the committee has been seeking for 10 days, denied warmly he is a key figure in the inquiry or he has been evading a senate subpoena. He also told a senate subcommittee he had never said an $18,000,000 bonus reportedly to be paid in connection with a $50,000,000 steel transaction was to be split among executives of five big steel companies.

The senators, subcommittee of the small business committee, are inquiring into the difficulties of small concerns in obtaining steel. Witnesses have said that while the basic mill price is about $80 a ton, brokers have charged small manufacturers as high as $260.

A trim, soft-spoken man, Karp identified the letter, purporting to promise delivery of 248,000 tons of steel, was handed to him in a Pittsburgh hotel by a man he had never seen before or since. "I did not sign the letter nor do I know who signed it," he said.

Letter Called Spurious

Two handwriting experts, one an FBI man, testified Wednesday the signature of A. R. Zapp on the letter was not genuine.

Zapp is an official of the Firth-Sterling Steel and Carbide Corp., McKeesport, Pa., the firm which the letter purportedly promised would deliver the steel. The company disclaimed the order.

Karp, fingering a long leather cigaret case on the table before him, said the picture of him as a mystery man and steel broker was much overdrawn. His only connection with steel has been for one or two clients as an incident to general law practice, he said.

"I don't like the idea of being a mystery man or a key witness," he said. "I don't like the idea of going to strange cities and seeing myself referred to in blazing headlines as a mystery man."

Denies Knowledge of Steel

Karp, who is 33, testified he never represented himself as having influential friends in the steel business or as being able to tell whether orders would be accepted or rejected.

"I don't know where any steel comes from," he said.

He told the subcommittee he was handed the letter promising delivery of the steel in the William Penn hotel in Pittsburgh.

He does not remember the date, he said, but it was probably about the first of March.

Legislation Considered At Meeting of Union

Pending labor legislation was considered when Marion Central Labor union met Tuesday night at 136 East Center street. The group went on record as opposing house bill 60 pending in congress. The union voted in favor of house bill F-13-20, which deals with financing a proposed medical program for labor. They opposed senate bill 545, the Taft-Hartley bill, which some senators would substitute for the house bill covering the same legislation. It is planned to send letters to Ohio senators and representatives expressing the opinion of the group.

The union decided to meet only once a month during the summer. Meetings will be held on the fourth Tuesday during June, July and August, the next to be June 24.

Caledonia Trackmen In Class B Finals

To conclude their high school athletics for 1946-1947 three runners from Caledonia are participating in state class B track finals in Columbus today and Saturday.

They are Gene Fleming, shotput, Paul Drake, 220, and Bob McKeever, pole vault.

To be eligible for the meet a performer must have scored in the district meet. Fleming took a first place in the shot with a 46 feet 2¾ inch toss.

Programs on the Air

Miss Aline Neal, a teacher in the fourth grade in the Duling public school, Jackson, Miss., has been named "The Best Teacher of 1947" in a nationwide contest conducted by the Quiz Kids radio program, with eminent educators as judges.

She will receive $2,500 in cash for advanced study at any university of her choice.

Special recognition awards of $500 each go to Mrs. Dona V. Corwin, a teacher in the San Carlos Indian school, San Carlos, Ariz.; Roy Fisher, a high school English teacher, Volens High school, Nathalie, Va., and Miss Elsie Lindgren, a high school teacher for physically handicapped children, DeLano School, Kansas City, Mo. The contest was conducted among the country's school children who wrote letters on "The Teacher Who Has Helped Me Most."

Coon Chase To Be Held Sunday Near Galion

Special to The Star

GALION, May 30—The summer coon chase sponsored by the Crawford County Coon Hunters association is slated for Sunday, June 1, at the Otto Pfeifer farm, South Street road, one-half mile south of Galion.

The coon dog field trials are the main source of raising funds for the restocking and feeding of wild game in the county.

When the first chase of the season was held in March at the Bucyrus fairgrounds, a record entry of 160 dogs from three states was made. The chase, should have as large an entry, with some of the best dogs in the state running in this trial.

MARKET RULE HELD BY BULLISH FORCES

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 30—Bullish forces maintained control of the stock market yesterday but they encountered considerable profit taking on Wednesday's bulge.

The list milled about rather hesitantly in the forenoon. Steels, motors, rails and special issues led a brief fast runup in the second hour when it was announced that house and senate conferees had agreed on a tax cut bill. There was no follow-through and volume quickly dwindled as trends wavered. Extreme advances running to 2 or more points were substantially reduced in most cases at the close and assorted losers persisted. Transfers of 900,000 shares compared with 890,000 Wednesday and were the best of the short week.

Securities markets will suspend today in observance of Memorial day and extend the recess through Saturday. There will be no Saturday sessions in June, July, August and September.

Norfolk and Western advanced 5 points at 228 and Santa Fe 2 at 73. Up around a point or so were Bethlehem at 79¾, Deere 34⅝, Standard Oil of Cal. 58½, Texas Co. 60¾, Allied Chemical 168 and U. S. Gypsum 93½.

Minor losses were shown for Chrysler, Chesapeake and Ohio, Kennecott, DuPont and Johns-Manville.

LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

"YOU won't have to wait long," I told Mary's anxious husband. "Her breakfast has been ordered, and should be up very shortly."

"Then good-bye," he said, making a dash for the elevator, while I hurried back to the bedroom.

"'Every morn I bring thee—'" I hummed, putting the florist's box. Noel had given me on the card table Katharine had set up in front of Mary's easy chair.

"'Violet!'" Mary completed the quotation with a delighted little crow, and I saw that for the instant her volatile spirits had banished her dolor. "It looks like a violet box! That means that Noel—the darling—who was at the door"

"Noel was," I told her, "very anxious to know how you were and wishing you to have these right away. But he's terribly worried about their freshness—he had to get them last night, he said."

"Of course; nothing's open this early," she assented. "But I don't care if they're dried sticks. It was so dear of him to think of me."

Katharine smilingly laid a pair of scissors on the table before her, and Mary, catching them up, snipped the tiny cord fastening the elaborate bow of lavender florists' ribbon which adorned the box.

Then she opened the box, and lifted from the tissue an exquisite cluster of long-stemmed purple and white violets to which she bent her face.

"Oh, oh!" she exclaimed, as Faith might have done.

"Just bury your noses in these!" she adjured us. Isn't that fragrance heavenly?"

"It's all of that," Katharine told her. "Now, where's a container? You must have these on your breakfast table."

"I wouldn't eat a mouthful without them!" Mary declared extravagantly, and I took a "winter bouquet" from a low container and laid it aside. Then I filled the container with water, and brought it to Mary.

"I think this ought to do," I said.

"It's perfect!" Mary assented, and busied herself joyously in that most fascinating of all pursuits to flower lovers, the arrangement of blossoms.

"There!" she said, when she had tucked the last leaf into place and set the container in the middle of the table. "I'm getting an appetite by the second."

The First Course

"Here's your first course," I told her, setting down a glass of orange juice.

"Drink it slowly," Katharine said, and before she had finished, the knocker sounded, this time heralding the arrival of Room Service with Mary's breakfast order and mine.

We breakfasted together, leisurely, and I was secretly delighted to see that Mary needed no urging to finish every morsel of her breakfast.

When I had cleared away, and taken the tray into the living room, Katharine gave her a pellet which Dr. Twitchell had ordered to be taken after each meal, kissed her forehead and put light fingers upon her pulse. Then she brought a basin and towel for Mary's fingers, and laid a mirror on the table in front of her.

"You don't need any embellishing," she said, smiling, "but if you wish any cosmetics, I'll act as your maid."

Mary looked at herself critically.

"I'm a mess," she declared, "but make-up won't do me any good. I've got color in my cheeks and on my lips; enough to fool Noel that I'm doing all right. So, I'll just sit here and think kind, gentle thoughts until he comes."

"I want to get this card table which held your breakfast out of the way," Katharine said. "Where shall I put your flowers?"

"As close to my hand as I can get them," she said, and I whisked the little end table from the bedside and set it up at the right of Mary's chair. Then, from my dresser, I brought a bit of Chinese embroidery to cover its top, and set the container and the violets upon it.

"Thank you," Mary said. "Now I'm ready to see my husband and make him think I'm getting along fine."

"Don't overdo it!" I cautioned. "We don't want him to get any ideas about your going down to your own apartment."

"I suppose the patient must remain in the straitjacket," she said with a wry grin.
